

Vancouver Goes To Polls Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some 100,000 voters are expected to go to the polls in Vancouver today to select a mayor from six candidates, five aldermen, four park commissioners and five school trustees for two-year terms.

Property owners throughout the city will also decide whether to sell International Airport to the federal government for $2,750,000.

Wage Law Due

Federal minimum wage law will be introduced soon, Labor Minister Michael Starr said Tuesday. He did not disclose minimum to be specified, but most frequent submission to Ottawa has called for at least $1.25 an hour. Law would only apply to some 400,000 workers under federal jurisdiction.

Margaret Melts Royal Feud

(By Reuters, UPI)

BRUSSELS — Crowds of excited Belgians greeted Princess Margaret and her husband as they arrived here Tuesday for the wedding Thursday of King Baudouin and Dona Fabiola de Mora y Aragon of Spain.

"Margaret, Margaret" and

Margaret's arrival formally ended a 20-year-long feud between Britain and Belgium.

denouncing Belgium's capitulation to the Nazis as a stab in the back during the dark days of Dunkirk.

Not since the Second World War has a member of the British royal family visited Belgium to take part in a court celebration.

The Belgian royal family refused to send an emissary to the funeral of the late King George VI in 1953.

Nor was a representative sent to Princess Margaret's own wedding last May.

But yesterday the King's younger brother, Albert, and his wife, Princess Paola, welcomed Princess Margaret and her husband at the mist-shrouded airfield.

SOOKE CRASH VICTIM REFUSES BLOOD, DIES

Transfusion Might Have Helped

A Sooke resident who was a member of the Jehovah's Witness sect died in St. Joseph's Hospital last night after refusing to accept blood transfusions.

Dead following an accident late yesterday afternoon is David Cory, about 45 to 50, a bachelor of Maple Avenue, Sooke.

NOT CERTAIN

A hospital spokesman said last night he could not state that Cory died because of lack of blood, but said the victim was suffering shock when admitted and that it would be standard practice in such a case to administer transfusions.

It is contrary to religious principles of the group to which Cory belonged to accept blood transfusions in any form.

AUTOPSY MAY TELL

The hospital spokesman said that only an autopsy would prove whether or not a transfusion would have saved the man's life.

He said Cory suffered a fractured skull and possible internal injuries.

FAIR CONDITION

The victim's condition was fair when admitted to hospital at 6:20 p.m. but deteriorated rapidly shortly before his death at 10:15 p.m.

The hospital official said Cory was conscious when admitted and said that because of his religion he did not want transfusions administered. Attendants abided by his wish.

STANDARD PRACTICE

"Whether or not it (blood) would have made any difference can't be said with absolute certainty . . . but in a case of this nature blood would have been given," he said.

Bystanders said Cory was bleeding heavily from the head when loaded into the ambulance.

83-YEAR-OLD DRIVER

The fatally-injured man was struck by a car driven by Haughton Gibson, 83, of Sooke, who was coming out of his own driveway about half a block from the firehall.

Mr. Cory was lying under the car when West Coast ambulance arrived to take him to hospital.

Canadians Will Stay

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Green reiterated Tuesday that Canada does not intend to withdraw any of its 250 troops serving with the United Nations in the Congo.

Baritone Dies

Famed operatic baritone John Charles Thomas, 68, died at Apple Valley, Calif., yesterday following an extended illness. Known for his deep, rich voice, and as one of the Metropolitan Opera Company's all-time greats, the noted singer was a victim of intestinal cancer. His farewell concert tour was in 1952-53.

Cuba Trade Policy Revolting—Croll

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator David Croll, an Ontario Liberal, told the Senate that Canada's willingness to sell to Cuba many of the goods on which the United States has placed an embargo "is a revolting example of the philosophy of anything for a fast buck." Canada was negating the U.S. embargo.

Senator Croll said the Cuban trade mission now in Canada "should be sent packing with empty hands." If Cuba could buy the goods elsewhere, it would.

Record Blizzard

Record cold—as low as 28 below zero—benumbed the east coast Tuesday, compounding the misery of the Atlantic seaboard's worst pre-winter blizzard. The digging-out task was monumental and slow.

In Sarnia, Ont., traffic was beginning to recover late Tuesday from an overnight storm which dumped 25 inches of snow on the city and brought traffic to a standstill amid drifts five feet deep.

NO RELIEF

No relief from the deep freeze was in sight before Thursday, the weather bureau said.

The death toll from the weekend storm passed the 200 mark in the United States. Car accidents, snipping mishaps, freezing and weather-induced heart attacks contributed to the total.

Communities isolated by the storm got their first deliveries of milk and bread since last week. Many schools were closed.

Car Executive Drops Fortune Enters Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect Kennedy Tuesday persuaded 44-year-old Robert S. McNamara to give up a $400,000-a-year job as president of Ford Motor Co. to serve as United States defence secretary.

"I came to the conclusion that personal considerations must be subordinated to the best interests of the United States," McNamara told reporters after Kennedy announced that the Ford executive had agreed to accept the $250,000-a-year cabinet post.

PERSONAL SACRIFICE

Kennedy said he realized that McNamara—who became president of the giant Ford firm only five weeks ago—was making a personal sacrifice. In addition to surrendering a big salary, McNamara said he will divest himself of big holdings of Ford stock.

Kennedy pledged effective leadership for the all-important U.S. military system which he said will be second to none and "so strong it can defend the peace."

McNamara described himself as a registered Republican "but I vote as a political independent."

Attack Launched On Mayor Mabel

ALBERNI—President of the Alberni Voters' Association last night launched a vehement attack on this city's Mayor Mabel Anderson for her statement Monday that signers of a petition seeking her ouster had broken the law.

Robert White, president of the voters' group, accused the mayor of making "veiled threats" against the signers of the petition which sought to have the provincial government demand Mayor Anderson's resignation.

The petition was circulated by the voters' association, which announced that it bore more than 700 signatures.

The association launched the petition after nearly a year of procedural wrangling between mayor and council.

Said the mayor in a statement Monday: "This act on the part of the Alberni Voters' Association shall be dealt with by the proper authorities, and I would suggest any persons being a party to this illegal petition get in touch with the mayor of this city immediately."

Mr. White said the association "positively abhors" the action of the mayor and charged "her statement . . . has absolutely no foundation in law, fact or common sense."

The letter charged soldiers were being charged an extra two cents on a bottle of beer, 10 cents on a carton of cigarettes and extra money on other articles to help swell the fund.

Forced to Give Charges Soldier

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department is investigating a soldier's complaint that Canadian personnel serving with the UN Emergency Force in Egypt are being coerced into contributing to a welfare fund for refugees.

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister Starr reported Tuesday the federal government has put up $23,927,984 so far as its contribution to the municipal winter works program.

Today Is Entry Deadline Day For Christmas Tree Tournery

This is the day when application for The Daily Colonist Christmas Tree Tourna-ment should be made.

An extra form for the tournament which this year will be played at Uplands Golf Club on Monday, Dec. 26, appears on Page 8.

It should be filled immediately and mailed with entry fee to catch today's postmark. Entries delivered to the Colonist by hand cannot be accepted.

There is a limit of 112 places for men and 60 for women. Ten places will be held for out-of-town applicants whose entries may be delayed in the Christmas rush.

The draw for the tournament will appear in The Daily Colonist on Sunday, Dec. 18. Men will start from 8 a.m., while the women, who will play the back nine holes, will start about 11:30. Prizetaking will be held at about 4:30 at the clubhouse.

Alderman Plucks Tot From Alberni Fire

Pyjamas for Jury

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson suggested Tuesday that the British Columbia government supply jurors with pyjamas. "Can't sleep without them myself," he said as the murder trial of Charles Heathman opened. (See Page 3.)

ALBERNI — An Alberni alderman yesterday smashed his way through the window of a police magistrate's blazing home and saved the life of a two-year-old girl while the child's parents took two other youngsters to safety.

Ald. George Dunbar, 30, said he was awakened about 4 a.m. by the voices of his neighbors. Magistrate and Mrs. W. E. MacLeod.

SCOOPED UP

When he learned that one youngster was still inside the flaming house, he plunged through a window, scooped up the tot and fled outside as flames roared up the basement stairwell.

Awakened by the fire, Mrs. MacLeod and her husband had rushed Roy, eight months, and Jamie, 4, to safety and were about to return for Megan, 2, when their neighbor came to their aid.

LINE WENT DEAD

Mrs. MacLeod telephoned the alarm and heard the line become dead as she talked.

The seven-room home at 714 Princess Street was extensively damaged. The basement, where fire officials say the blaze started, was gutted.

QUICK CONTROL

Volunteer firemen under Chief A. Gilmour brought the fire under control in about 15 minutes.

Ald. Dunbar received minor cuts on the face and hands when he broke through the window.

Despair Changed to Joy Day Before Christmas

The family breadwinner had been out of work for eight months when Dec. 23 rolled around last year.

He had hoped for some sort of work just before Christmas when extra jobs often turn up. He tried everywhere but the answer was always, "Sorry, try again later on."

He and his wife had been avoiding any talk of Christmas or where they would get presents for their five young children.

Hope gave way to despair when they found their welfare money was eaten up by necessities.

The parents didn't know their family was on the list of the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund. They didn't find out until later that day when a cheque arrived for $20.95.

Each year the fund helps 500 needy families like this to purchase the little extras that make a big difference on Christmas Day.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

ARE world affairs too dull for people to bother reading about?

Let's hope not. The survival of the nation and even of the world may depend upon a lively informed public opinion—a public opinion that wants our leaders to work hard for peace and the control of armaments.

Several people have written letters urging the newspapers to keep on reporting such matters as disarmament at some length.

"Because the ordinary citizen 'couldn't be bothered,'" writes A. F. Davies of 4611 Vantreigh Drive, "nation after nation has found itself turned into an instrument of aggressive war or suffering as the victim of one."

"Only the united voice of the man in the street and the woman in the home—or the office—can provide the power which will turn the drive toward atomic devastation into saner pathways."

"Unless the people in democratic countries are kept informed about these affairs," writes a resident of Ganges, "I do not see how they can be expected to overcome their prejudices in order to meet fresh problems in this rapidly changing world."

"The 'voices in the wilderness' will one day be heard," writes Mrs. Dorothy Spurr, 1261 Oscar Street. Too many people have a "let George do it" attitude, she says.

"They do not want to think. But they are the first to be armchair critics of governments."

John Allan, P.O. Box 1354, Courtenay, writes: "Don't you think the next generations are going to judge the present generation—especially the leaders we appoint—to be the wicked who want to destroy themselves?"

Some correspondents would have us trust in God to solve our problems. But Christianity says: Help your neighbor. That must include helping him avoid starvation, disease and death by hydrogen bomb.

I think there is an obligation on ordinary citizens today—an obligation just as strong as paying taxes.

Citizens should join clubs that are dedicated to study and action on public affairs. In particular they should join societies that aim for the control of war and poverty all over the world.

They should gather facts, form opinions, and unite to make their opinions felt. I wonder how many of them will do it.

X-Rays No Danger If They're Rationed

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: I was recently X-rayed to see whether there was a possibility that I would have twins. Later your column stated that X-raying the pelvic region of pregnant women is not good. What are the dangers?"—Mrs. D. R."

Madam, this is one of the hardest questions that I am called upon to answer. Most decidedly, I don't want any reader to be frightened of an X-ray. And at the same time, I don't want anyone, patient or doctor, to assume that radiation (X-rays, fallout, and natural) is to be ignored.

Could I put it this way? It's like drops of water. If you were to be subjected to the constant drip of water, it would in time do damage. Dripping water, as simple as that, can wear away the hardest stone. Yet this doesn't mean that I would oppose the idea of taking a shower. Or being caught in the rain.

ALWAYS SOME

Now let's consider it in a slightly different way. Are you aware that there is a slight but all-pervasive thing called natural radiation? This is a very small but ever-present stream of rays emanating from the earth itself. Let's say that by the age of 30 or so you have absorbed enough of these rays to be represented by the number of 10 units. (That's just an arbitrary figure for illustration.)

Well, in addition, let's say that the average amount of radiation we receive from medical X-rays is five units; or half as much. That's an average. A cancer patient, for example, may receive 1,000 times as much radiation as the person who has the usual

X-ray of teeth, chest, or other areas. And beyond that, let's say we all receive, from fallout, an amount represented by another five units.

Total: 20 units. This represents an amount which will cause no demonstrable harm to anyone.

If we increased this total to twice that much—40 units—we would find some people being harmed, although not to the extent that resulted from being exposed, at a distance, to an A-bomb blast. For people survived after quite substantial exposure, and even had healthy babies afterward.

SPECIAL CARE

I hope this gives you some feeling for the proportions involved. The reason for being particularly careful about pelvic X-rays is (a) to avoid exposure of the genital organs because of the desirability of keeping at a minimum any unpredictable change in the genes, or chromosomes, or "pattern" for future children; and (b) that the baby-to-be is totally exposed to the X-ray, instead of being exposed only in the teeth, chest, etc.

The duration of exposure is brief for a medical X-ray—say a tenth of a second. The natural radiation and fallout, while very faint, continue all the time.

So my answer is this: Don't worry about being X-rayed for a tenth of a second by your doctor. But let's not have any radiation without a definite reason.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have lost considerable weight and would like some lotion that will shrink the tissues under my chin to avoid flabbiness."—Mrs. M. B."

I don't know of any such lotion. Massage might help.

Damage $7,800

Three Cars Lost In Paint-Pot Fire

Spontaneous combustion fire, said owner Robert Wratten, is believed responsible for a fire that destroyed three cars and damaged four others and a building shortly before 7 a.m. yesterday.

A passerby on his way to work reported the blaze in Wratten's Auto Paint Shop, 1027 View, at 6:51 a.m.

The fire was concentrated in the paint storage area of the building and prevented by firemen from spreading to Sandy's Auto Wrecking, next door.

One of eight cars in the paint shop was pushed out by firemen; four were damaged by heat and smoke, and three, valued at $4,300, written off. Total damage was estimated at $7,800.

A quantity of painting equipment was damaged in the fire, said owner Robert Wratten. Firemen, after fighting the flames for about an hour, came away with gaily-colored boots, caused by paint in various hues floating about in two inches of water on the floor.

Buy Site Mayor Advised

A committee proposed to Mayor Percy Scourah yesterday that land on Cathedral Hill near the new courthouse be acquired for future development as a cultural centre, but the mayor said afterward, "I still don't know where the money would come from."

COMMITTEE NAMED

The committee was appointed at a recent meeting of the Victoria Symphony Society, the Gilbert and Sullivan Society and Victoria Little Theatre, to promote the idea of the city and province buying property bounded by Courtney, Blanshard, Quadra and Broughton and across the road on Broughton.

PRICES RISING

"They told me that land prices are going up in the area and that some property will become unavailable, so they believe it is urgent that it be acquired," Mayor Scourah said.

"But there has been no suggestion where the money would come from, except that they hope the provincial government would be interested in at least participating in the scheme they have in mind."

No conclusions were reached in the discussion, he said.

Swiftsure 'Week' City Idea

Tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce wants to build a week-long aquatic celebration around the annual Swiftsure ocean yacht race. It has decided to form a committee to work on the proposal, made by Dr. Hugh Borsman and Wally Fletcher. The group will consider adding canoe races, tugboat races, and power boat and closed-course sailing races.

Trial Over by Christmas Court Goal in Murder Case

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A former army cook charged with murder sat quietly Tuesday while witnesses described the discovery Sept. 5 of a missing 11-year-old boy in high weeds and bushes in Vernon's Poison Park.

Charles Heathman, 28, is charged with murder in the beating death of Donald Otley Sept. 2. He pleaded not guilty before Mr. Justice A. M. Manson.

Meanwhile, the court learned Mr. Justice Manson has not completed his Christmas shopping.

The judge made the confession after foreman William Gardner asked if court hours could be extended in "view of the season." The justice promised to attempt to conclude the trial by Christmas.

Ordinary Treatment Asked for Gagliardi

VANCOUVER (CP) — A defence counsel said Tuesday that if P. A. Gagliardi had not been a minister of the government he would not have been found guilty of contempt of court.

M. M. MacFarlane, speaking in the third day of the highways minister's appeal against conviction, said he wants Mr. Gagliardi treated as an ordinary person.

He said Mr. Gagliardi is not entitled to immunity from court orders just because he is highways minister.

"I am not suggesting immunity, I want no more and no less than would be given an ordinary person."

But an ordinary person who had acted in the same manner as the minister in the same circumstances would not have been found guilty.

Mr. Gagliardi and C. W. Thornton of Union Contractors Ltd. were convicted Oct. 19 of contempt of a court order restraining the company from receiving or dealing in any monies up to $25,000 the department of highways may pay the firm for work done in the Revelstoke area.

Tories 'Weasel'—Jobless

OTTAWA (CP) — A job-hungry group of Windsor workers accused the government Tuesday of "weaseling" on promises to help the unemployed in Canada.

After a morning meeting with five federal cabinet ministers, the 100-man delegation met the Liberals and then the CCF-New Party caucus.

Serge Gopelle, 39, unemployed car worker and a leader of the delegation, told the CCF and New Party "the biggest political weaseling in a long time" happened during the talks with government officials.

He charged that the cabinet ministers passed the unemployment buck to provincial and municipal governments.

The workers asked distribution of government-owned food allowances and family allowances and continuation of unemployment benefits as long as a worker is out of a job.

What Is the Motive?

PREMIER BENNETT will have his own motive, no doubt, for his current spat with Justice Minister Fulton over the Columbia River power development. It is never easy to guess his intentions since puzzlement is one of his chief stocks in trade. In the present instance, however, he is the most culpable.

Mr. Bennett says Mr. Fulton was making a grandstand play—playing politics. If ever a person knew how to make grandstand plays it is Mr. Bennett, so his indictment is apt to fall flat. It is quite apparent that the premier was guilty of discourtesy to a federal minister of the crown.

While in the city and in Vancouver over the weekend Mr. Fulton made every effort to see Mr. Bennett, only to be put off by the assertion that nobody knew where the latter was. Mr. Bennett was in town and knew perfectly well that Mr. Fulton desired to meet him.

Premier Bennett raises the specious excuse that Mr. Fulton should not have sent him the letter conveying the federal Columbia offer by special messenger but should have delivered the letter himself. If no government business is ever to be conveyed except by cabinet ministers in person this is something new in diplomatic protocol. Do Mr. Bennett's own ministers deliver all their letters in person?

Quite likely it would have suited Mr. Bennett's ego to have a federal minister wait on him cap in hand, but his behavior in this relation is childish in the extreme.

Meanwhile Mr. Fulton has told Parliament that notwithstanding Mr. Bennett's objections the treaty with the U.S.A. concerning the Columbia development will go ahead. This of course is essential no matter the final disposition of the federal-provincial agreement. Any delay in the project will not be the fault of Ottawa. Mr. Bennett should make sure that it is not his.

Why does not Mr. Bennett put aside these petty gestures and instead meet graciously in person with ranking federal authorities to discuss the matters in question? No one expects him to retreat from his desire to get the best deal possible for B.C. He has a good case and it must be respected. But he should behave rationally and in keeping with the dignity that his position invites. This is a project that demands earnest and courteous discussion, not a political war carried along the hustings.

No doubt the Peace River interests who would like priority given to their power venture are pleased to note the present hiatus over the Columbia. They may sense an advantage to their cause. Could this have anything to do with the attitude of Premier Bennett?

Freedom in Trade

IT SHOULD now be crystal clear to the United States that Canada intends to maintain her right to do business with any country in the world—including Cuba.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has gone to great pains to place before the world in general, and the United States in particular, the Canadian attitude in the matter of trade with Cuba. In fact he has made three separate statements on the subject in as many weeks.

It is obvious that his earlier declarations failed to halt the rising tide of American criticism—which, though not originating with the United States government, has been both vociferous and persistent.

It is also evident that Mr. Diefenbaker feels that the time has now come to "talk tough" by pointing out that as Canada fully respects the views of other nations on the matter, she expects hers to be equally respected.

This week, not only did he once again underline Canada's determination to trade with Cuba, but he gave his assurance that this country would neither bootleg American goods nor sell arms and ammunition to Dr. Castro's regime.

The major American complaint has been, of course, that continuing Canadian-Cuban trade undermines the effectiveness of the U.S. boycott. However, it is interesting to note that Canada was not consulted in any way by the United States before the anti-Cuban embargo was initiated.

Perhaps the prime minister's latest words will appeal to the American public's inherent reverence of sovereign rights and put an end to this carping over the actions of a nation which is as independent as its own.

Where Responsibility Lies

READING between the lines, it looks very much as if the city council's message to the arena commission could be paraphrased thus: "You were appointed to manage the arena; now go ahead and do it."

Although discussion at the council's meeting on Monday appears to have been confused and confusing, it succeeded in conveying the impression that as long as the commission remains in office the council is not going to rescue it from its dispute with the arena manager and staff.

Nor should the council do so. The commission is an autonomous body with all the authority it needs to deal with what is after all a mere matter of administration. That is what the commission is for.

If the commission feels itself to be unable or incompetent to bring this unedifying spectacle to an end its proper course is to resign, not to invite the council to revoke the appointment. In the circumstances it is not clear just why the council should be asked to dismiss the commission when the normal course of resignation remains open.

It may be necessary in the end for the council to relieve the commissioners of their duties if proper operation of the arena is interfered with as a result of these internal troubles. As long as the arena continues to meet requirements in the way of sports fixtures and public use generally the council may have no legal cause to intervene; that is a matter for interpretation by its advisers.

But that does not mean that the council should wash its hands of the whole messy business. It should be prepared with a plan for immediate management take-over the moment the present administration collapses, if it should come to that—which appears to be within the bounds of possibility.

One thing should be made clear to all concerned: that is that an issue which aroused public curiosity and interest for a while has now become tiresome almost beyond endurance.

Interpreting the News

Peace Mission Fails

By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE bitter weeks of racial hate have sprouted around Gen. De Gaulle's peace mission in Algeria.

A journey conceived in high hope and altruism—and watched with deep foreboding—now seems certain to leave a legacy of fierce and festering resentment.

The riots and shooting of "bloody Sunday" put a sharper edge on the clash of two civilizations—Moslem and European—that has raged on and off since the French conquest of Algeria in 1830.

What happens now depends largely on the discipline of the French army. Specifically, a question mark broods over the beretted heads of the tough French paratroopers, schooled to regard Moslems as deadly enemies.

The big danger is that they may come out openly on the side of the right-wing European settlers, who are vociferously defying de Gaulle's efforts to give Algeria's 10,000,000 Moslems a voice in their own affairs.

De Gaulle gambled that his visit would pave the way for a reconciliation between the two communities. Tragically, it seems certain to produce the opposite effect.

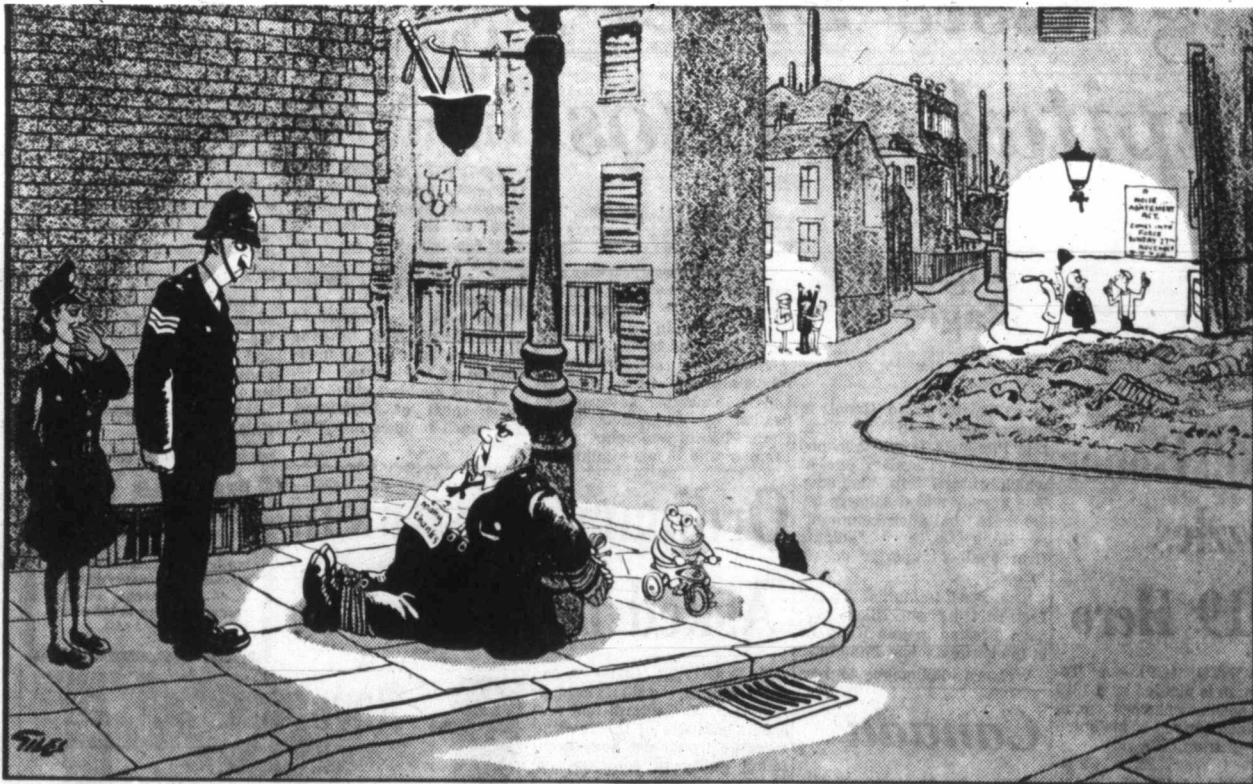

Heartened by de Gaulle's presence many Moslems have discarded their careful neutrality to make clear that they sympathize with de Gaulle. From that it has been a short step to proclaiming their solidarity with the National Liberation Front, the rebel force that has been fighting the French for six years.

That show of defiance caused much of the bloodshed. It is bound to convince many Arabs that moderation no longer serves any purpose.

The European extremists are getting a rough press in Britain. The Sunday Times, a Conservative newspaper, refers to the settlers as "unhappy people, many of them have treated the Moslems around them with all the contempt of an underprivileged white man for a still more underprivileged native race."

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

A STEEPLEJACK swung 100 feet up as he secured a safety wire to the top of St. John's front wall and I found myself thinking of these high church frontals and spires.

How they built them centuries ago leaves me in wonder, but patently steeplejacking must be one of the ancient occupations.

I shouldn't like it myself, which means of course that I'd never have had the nerve. Once I climbed ardently to visit Captain Vancouver and when I stood on the little balcony below his dome I hated to look down.

Whereas a steeplejack reaches for the sky and looks downwards with unconcern.

One man's meat being another's poison, as the saying goes, doubtless the same applies to choosing a vocation. Actually I fancy many individuals merely gravitate into a particular line of work, rather willy-nilly like. But once they are there they develop an affinity for it.

And liking too. One needs must love what one labors at, a man said once, and there would be a heap of truth in his observation.

Thinking of all the queer professions there are this must be so, else presumably a person would chuck the job out of hand.

How else explain the preference of a smaller of beer-barrel bung-holes, for instance, or a lion-tamer.

It will be the most fortunate circumstance of this varied world, in fact, that it takes all kind of men to make and live in it. We shall leave the ladies out of discussion, if only that they seldom qualify as garbage-men, coal miners, or other like pursuits.

They are encroaching, of course, but let me disarm them by asserting their chief function is to adorn an otherwise drab scene.

At any rate they don't go about climbing steeples.

But what a godsend the mixture of men is. What if no one wanted to dig coal, or grow greasy handling oil, or deliver milk, or design ships, or make coffee spoons, or stroll around in a policeman's uniform.

We should be in a pretty pickle with a vengeance; that's a thought that should humble some egos.

Personal traits do enter into one's choice of trade, or its continuance—to some extent at least. Having no mechanical instincts this writer would be a total loss in a machine shop, or in a laboratory. If on leaving school I had found myself among hot rivets or cold test tubes I wouldn't have stayed long.

Doubtless I wouldn't have been permitted to, either.

It is when one is very young and inherent skills are still hidden that every trade and profession seems to be at one's disposal. The urge to be a fireman is common, rudely dispelled afterwards perhaps when one of these heroes is seen being carried away on a stretcher.

The sea it is then that offers a clean fresh breeze.

A sailor's life is delightful, as one slips vicariously from port to port, seeing the world without swabbing a deck; so is the dream of sitting at a clean desk smoking a big cigar. Closer adult acquaintance changes the perspective.

Yet we should all starve tomorrow if the sea ceased edging into the bones of some men, and others did not sit behind telephones worrying about cargoes, coming or going.

Yes, this peculiar thing called work is a rare adventure.

Some folk, as you know, even walk tight-ropes for a living, oh-brood like hermits on lighthouses. Other, no doubt more lightheaded, essay diversions like this on the subject.

But then watching a steeplejack at work makes me lightheaded.

Financial Sabotage

Soviet Welshing on U.N. Debts

By W. N. EWER, from London

MR. HAMMARSKJÖLD'S warning to the budget committee of the United Nations Assembly that the organization will face the New Year with "a virtually empty treasury" has to be taken very seriously indeed.

At the beginning of 1960 there was a cash balance of some $16,000,000. At the beginning of 1961 there will be a deficit of something between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000. This can, for the moment, be met by borrowing from "special funds." But that is only a temporary expedient.

The immediate cash crisis comes from the expense of the Congo situation. That operation was decided on by the Security Council in June. Under the charter all member states are pledged to "accept and carry out" council decisions. That plainly involves responsibility for the financial cost of carrying out such decisions.

Nevertheless, the Soviet Union and its associates have refused to make any contribution to the costs of maintaining the United Nations Emergency Force.

Nor is there any sign that they will be willing to contribute anything towards the $100,000,000 required for economic aid.

In this they are not alone. In spite of protestations of sympathy, so far only the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada have made any substantial contributions.

But this was a "voluntary fund."

The really serious feature of the situation is that member states—the "Soviet bloc" in particular—should be refusing to pay for actions which the Security Council has decided to take. That, unless remedied, could make it virtually impossible for the council to take any action at all which could involve the expenditure of any but minimal amounts of money, which could be taken without difficulty from the ordinary budget.

Nor, unfortunately, is this the first instance of this sort of thing. The Soviet Union is already nearly $14,000,000 in debt to the United Nations because it has not paid its share of the cost of the "Suez" operation (the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East) four years ago.

It is clear that this sort of financial sabotage must either cripple the organization or impose a totally unfair burden on member states which carry out their obligations.

Even without these special operations, requiring special expenditures over and above the ordinary budget, the distribution of the financial burden between the members can hardly be regarded as equitable.

The Soviet Union, though it claims an economic potential similar to that of the United States, pays an annual contribution less than half the American. It is almost exactly double that of the United Kingdom—though the population of the U.S.S.R. is four times that of the U.K.

This lack of balance (and there are other instances) is, no doubt, largely an inheritance from the very different circumstances of 1945. None the less it exists. And it is neither just nor healthy.

It is purely grotesque that, in the year 1960, the United States should be paying just one-third of the total budget of the United Nations.

There has been in the past, dating from the immediate postwar period, a tendency to assume that, whether for the United Nations or for any other international purpose, the United States can always be relied on to foot the bill—or as much of it as others do not foot.

And, indeed, the American contribution has been a fantastic one. Apart entirely from military aid to its allies, the United States, since 1954, has spent over $12,000,000,000 in economic aid to countries in need of it; this takes no account of its contributions to UNWRA and similar postwar relief organizations.

During the same period the Soviet Union has offered only about $3,000,000 worth of aid; and its actual outlay has been only $900,000,000, a mere three-fortieths of the American outlay.

Over the past year economic non-military aid from the United States has been over $2,000,000,000; and others of the Western powers, including the United Kingdom, have also made big contributions. Soviet offers during the year have amounted to $1,000,000,000 and the sum actually disbursed has been only about $200,000,000.

But—this is the point—this is something which cannot go on indefinitely. We have just been warned that the United States balance of payments—some $1,000,000,000 on the favorable side on ordinary trading—has been turned by expenditure on military aid to its allies and economic aid to the "developing" countries into an unfavorable balance of some $4,000,000,000.

So, in a way, the financial crisis in the United Nations is part of a larger picture. Expenditures which should be distributed as equitably as possible among the nations are now inequitably distributed. That is politically unhealthy, and, in the long run, economically unstable.

There has got to be some rather wide re-thinking. And, in the case of the United Nations, that re-thinking, as the secretary-general has warned us all, is urgent. It would be tragic if the work of the organization were to be hamstrung by the unwillingness of economically strong member states to carry a proper share of its cost.

Why Bonn Said 'No'

U.S. Mission's Failure

By OTTO VON HARSBURG

THE failure of the American economic mission to Europe, headed by Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, is the object of comment. It is significant that the negotiations in London and Paris have almost been forgotten compared to those carried out in Bonn.

It is understandable that Europe's negative reply, as presented to the public, has created a serious shock. The Old World owes much of its present economic prosperity to America's generous aid. The expectation that in Washington's plight Europe should repay at least part of the moral debt which no diplomatic agreement can annul was hence justified.

Nevertheless the picture given of the Bonn meeting by erroneous or slanted reporting does not tell the whole story.

The form in which the American appeal was presented was not fortunate. Germany is in an election year, its government's freedom of action is hence limited by the trends of public opinion. The great majority vividly remembers the years of occupation. It is consequently not surprising that direct payments for the stationing of foreign troops do not evoke happy memories. Acceptance of such demands would provoke the hostility of an important faction of public opinion. Americans who have just lived through a presidential campaign should be able to understand this situation.

England's intervention further complicated the issue. When Washington's demands became known, London immediately announced that it too would request payment for the cost of its forces on the continent. This created German fears of a chain reaction and thus dashed hopes for a constructive understanding with the U.S.A.

Besides this, most Western countries do not fully appreciate the reality and the limits of the so-called "German miracle." Germany was practically destroyed 15 years ago. It has been unable to build up reserves since. It could be compared to the head of a large enterprise, working hard and drawing an impressive salary, but unable to amass a fortune because current expenses and taxes use up his resources.

This is the great difference between the manager and the capitalist, i.e., the Germans and the Anglo-Saxons. The latter still have reserves and thus enjoy a security which the former lack. The Federal Republic would be in trouble if it wanted suddenly to liquidate large sums. It is operating on too narrow a margin. The high interest rate in Germany shows vividly the shortage of capital.

Bonn's "no" is due primarily to psychological reasons originating not in the substance but in the appearances and the ways in which Washington's demands were presented. This fact indicates that the doors are not closed on further negotiations. There was talk of a premature repayment of American loans; more constructive still is the thought of lowering European tariffs for goods from across the Atlantic. Europe furthermore is ready to increase its share in the aid for underdeveloped countries. Adequate solutions are thus in view. In order to reach them, both sides will have to show understanding for and accommodation to the partner's difficulties.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

ONE redeeming feature of the present confused era is the fact that people still stop and watch the trains go by. Nobody looks up any more when an aircraft passes overhead. Even the mighty jets don't rate so much as a glance. Ten people can be standing forlorn at a bus stop and one of these whizzbang red sports cars comes barking and snorting furiously past; and not one of the ten will raise his eyes from the slushy pavement.

But wherever the trains run, the whole world stops to stand and gaze.

The best way to perceive this is from your window in a train. Gathered at every station, however small, is a cluster of devotees, their coat collars turned up, their noses red, their heads raised in rapture as the cars flash by. Your train does not even pay them the compliment of slowing down, much less stopping. But there they are, infatuated.

In the fields, if it is summer, the plowman stops his tractor and stares. His dog sits down to gaze. In winter, the lonely figure, whatever he is doing out there in the bleak expanse, halts and turns to face the train, as though it were a ritual commanded of him.

In traffic in the cities the motor cars slacken speed as if by common consent to watch as freight trundle over a bridge. A hundred thousand little boys and girls will scramble into a hundred thousand late model cars to be taken to see the choo-choo.

Traffic Muddle

This protest at the steadily deteriorating traffic pattern of downtown Victoria. When are the powers that be going to stop thinking in horse and buggy terms and do something about it?

All this talk about cost is whitewash when they have a natural: from the Circle South, Government Street, one way, no left turns; from Fisgard to Superior, Douglas Street, one way north, no left turns, Humboldt to Bay Street; traffic control lights at Hillside and Gorge Rd., with no left turn off Gorge at Douglas putting north-bound traffic from Gorge by way of Garbally with a traffic light if necessary. East and west traffic can be handled just as easily.

I drive a lumber truck-trailer combination through downtown Victoria a couple of times a day, and believe me I'd like to take the town planners for a ride through town between 4:30 and 5:00 p.m. any week day.

The biggest problem is cars making left-hand turns. I've seen blocks full of cars held up as many as two lights while a couple of cars make left turns.

Common road courtesy is unknown in Victoria. More than half the drivers don't know what they are going to do next, and believe me the women drivers are not the biggest offenders.

Just for fun a couple of us counted 75 cars parked between Humboldt and Belleville one afternoon with only one person in them.

No wonder people do their shopping at outside points. I don't even like to drive into Victoria to a show.

Knowledge, Not Wisdom

In Colonist of Dec. 8 I took special notice of three items.

The first, on page 5, by Mr. C. A. Clements, described as "a well-known international economist," declared that Canada is heading for economic trouble.

The second, on page 1, by a number of individuals described as "university economics professors across Canada," calls for the dismissal of Mr. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, for saying, precisely what Mr. Clements says.

The third, on page 6, by Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner, described as president of the Associated Universities of New York, quotes him thus: "A disarmed world would be the most unstable of worlds."

Now my common sense tells me that Canada really is heading for economic trouble and it also tells me that a disarmed world offers a better chance for the human race to attain a higher level of conduct than an armed world.

This puts me clean on the other side of the fence from these university people, which makes me wonder; and think; and (can it possibly be?) mistrust these people. Our universities are the hot-house of knowledge, not of wisdom.

Many of them are busily burrowing into the very foundations of life. I pray that they won't bring the house down.

Money for Columbia

I wish to express deep disagreement with your editorial of last Sunday on the future of the Columbia wherein you state, "This is something that should be settled by rational discussion in person and not debated along the house tops."

On the contrary, I hold the view that there is no single resource as important to the economy of B.C. as the Columbia. Therefore, the policy of its future development—for B.C. and Canadians first or for the U.S.—should be discussed as widely as possible. Of course it must be a rational discussion if it is to have any sense.

The Columbia, claims Gen. McNaughton, fully developed in Canada, could provide the power for 200,000 jobs in B.C. The deal now worked out between Ottawa and Washington would only provide a few hundred construction jobs for water storage dams in B.C., not mighty power producing sites.

If Mr. Bennett goes ahead with his plans for B.C. to go it alone on finance he will have to go to the U.S. for the money. Then the U.S. will make a double profit out of our rich Columbia, for they will not only have us store and regulate the flow of water for dams across the line, but they will also draw the profits from interests on the bonds to finance the construction of the storage dams.

But do we need American money? Ottawa is already willing to put up half. It is certain that if the good people of B.C. were able to put up $30,000,000 worth of bonds to finance and develop the PGE, then once they grasp the job-producing possibility of a fully Canadian development of the Columbia, we will have no trouble finding the other half of the money right here in B.C.

Urge to Destroy

I was very sorry to hear of a Victoria church being burnt and the destruction of the head of the monument to Queen Elizabeth in Beacon Hill Park.

Vandals seem to be everywhere. We here had our mail boxes thrown into a water-filled ditch and our bus shelter smashed to bits at Halloween. These people only like to destroy things. "Halloween" seems to go on all year round with some people.

Is the picture of Selkirk water in Sunday's paper intended as a reminder that we have had no report on smoke abatement lately? I have your article of July 1 before me. "Committee may meet soon."

Tax Ruling May Help Hutterites

EDMONTON (CP)—The federal government's new income tax ruling on Hutterites brought guarded comment Tuesday from legal sources who have dealings with the colonies.

Lawyers said the new method of taxing probably will have no great effect on most colonies. The ruling could put the Hutterites in a more favorable tax position by showing payment of wages to members on tax returns.

But Rev. Jacob Waldner, minister of the colony at Raymond, Alta., said this would constitute a falsehood.

Europeans, Moslems Killed

Famed Legion Enters Battle

ALGIERS (UPI)—French foreign legion troops fired on rival mobs of Moslem nationalists and European settlers Tuesday in the port city of Bone as the toll in Algeria's five days of rioting soared to 118 dead and thousands of injured.

Four persons—two Moslems and two Europeans—were killed and 40 wounded, including 15 Europeans.

The violence marked the first time the famed Foreign Legion had been called in to put down rioting over President de Gaulle's plan to create a semi-independent "Algerian Algeria."

The outbreak broke out just before de Gaulle left Bone to fly back to Paris after his violence-racked tour of Algeria.

RIGHT POLICY
De Gaulle, arriving home looking grim and worn, sternly announced he is more determined than ever to press his policy "because it is the right one."

The capital buzzed with rumors that de Gaulle might order a cabinet shake-up to weed out ministers reported to be weakening in support of his Algerian policy.

FULL POWERS
There were suggestions, too, he might invoke article 16 of the constitution, giving him full powers to rule virtually alone in times of national emergency. Meanwhile, the French Communist party called on "workers, democrats and partisans of a negotiated peace" to start a campaign against de Gaulle's plans.

For Man Who Has Everything

TORONTO (CP)—If you need a gift for "the man who has everything" the CNR has a suggestion. Buy him a railway station.

The CNR is selling a used two-room frame station building at Lorneville, 15 miles west of Lindsay, Ont. It has a waiting room, office and freight shed.

Canada Still Competes

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians aren't exporting coals to Newcastle but they're selling textiles in Manchester—sometimes without even meaning to.

The story was told enthusiastically Tuesday by Arthur Evans, Canadian trade commissioner in Liverpool. His conclusion: reports that Canada is pricing itself out of world markets are over-rated.

Canadian cottons and synthetic textiles are being exported to Manchester, centre of Britain's textile industry, after two Canadian clothing manufacturers went there to buy British textiles. They took samples of Canadian-made clothes to show what was needed and came home with $350,000 in orders.

Mr. Evans, one of 111 trade commissioners at the export promotion conference, expressed "pleasant surprise" at the number of producers whose goods appear to be competitive in Britain.

Provinces Collect In Billions

OTTAWA (CP)—Preliminary net general revenue of provincial governments for the year ended March 31, 1960, was $2,444,000,000, up approximately seven per cent from estimated revenue and about 12 per cent higher than the preceding year's total, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

LANCASTER, Pa. — Mrs. Harry Ros, 27, delivered her own baby boy in the front seat of a snowbound car on a deserted country road in sub-freezing weather yesterday while her husband "prayed and kept her warm."

CNR Starts To Draw New Image

OTTAWA (CP)—The CNR quietly unveiled its new trademark Tuesday—a wiggly white line spelling CN with a modernistic flourish.

The symbol—first step in a program to revamp the railway's public image—replaces traditional yellow letters on a black square superimposed on a red maple leaf.

South Protest Ends in Fight

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Negroes demonstrated against lunch counter segregation in three deep south cities Tuesday and whites continued their near-total boycott of two integrated schools here.

Brief fist fighting broke out to end one of the lunch counter demonstrations at Augusta, Ga. No one was hurt—or arrested.

Protest demonstrations also occurred in Jacksonville, Fla., and Columbia, S.C. Near-freezing weather here kept demonstrators off streets, but only four Negroes and eight whites attended classes.

Don't Look to It for Jobs

OTTAWA (CP)—Problems created by automation and technological change pose a North American challenge unequalled since the impact of the industrial revolution, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday.

He expressed belief a national productivity council will be able to put together programs to meet those problems in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke in the Commons debate before second reading was given to the council legislation. Opposition reception was less than cordial.

"In the name of the jobless, don't look to it to put Canadians back to work now," said Judy LaMarsh, the lady lawyer from Niagara Falls who led off for the Liberal party in a confident maiden speech. It would, she said, have the opposite effect.

"Mostly wrappings and ribbons and there is very little in the box," said H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West).

TCA INTRODUCES 'HUDSON BAY' JET SERVICE TO BRITAIN

VANCOUVER...WINNIPEG...CAMBRIDGE...GLASGOW...LONDON

Here's your closest, fastest jet-link to Britain: TCA's new through flights by giant DC-8 Jet to Glasgow and London! There's more than the quiet comfort, more than the power of mighty Rolls-Royce engines, more than the speed of nine miles a minute: there's the wonderful convenience of a one-plane trip from Vancouver or Winnipeg right through to your destination! Your choice of First Class or Economy, of course. When you next go to Britain, go the West's own way—'Hudson Bay' by TCA!

There's a direct connection to your 'Hudson Bay' Jet in Vancouver. And up to March 31st, 1961, you can still take advantage of TCA's 17-day Economy Excursion Fare to Europe—the lowest in Trans-Atlantic Travel History!

Then, of course, there are TCA jets via Toronto and Montreal with its new, convenient Air Terminal Building—plus the new DC-8 Jet Services to the Continent of Europe. Why not get all the details from your Travel Agent or TCA at EV. 2-9141!

Dog Racing Okay Sought

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (CP)—The federal government will be asked to permit dog racing at the fall fair in this Fraser Valley community next year.

Jim Sullivan, secretary of the Lower Fraser Valley Exhibition Association, says the federal ban on dog racing should be lifted across the country.

"They have had dog racing in the United States for 80 years and I see no reason why it shouldn't be allowed here," he said.

"The B.C. Fairs Association is also going to make a similar request to Ottawa. Agricultural fairs throughout B.C. are badly in need of revenue and this seems to be the answer."

Americans Deny Wrecking Tennis Dressing Rooms

SYDNEY (AP)—Members of the United States Davis Cup team were reported Tuesday to have smashed up their dressing room in a fit of rage after losing to Italy in the interzone finals. The Americans angrily denied it.

The team arrived here from Perth, Australia, to see newspaper headlines shouting of the incident.

The Sydney Sun declared: "Can't take it squad—U.S. team smashes dressing room."

Ernie Christiansen, writing in The Sun, said that after losing the best-of-five series 3-2 to the Italians in Perth Monday the Americans "shattered partitions, broke windows and smashed bottles, splashing beer around the walls and littering the floor with broken glass."

Retorted U.S. team manager David Freed:

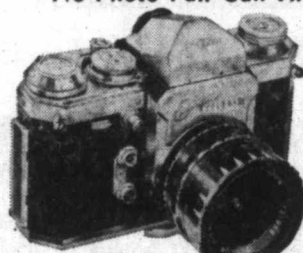

"This is such a wild story without any foundation that it leaves us all flabbergasted. It is true that an asbestos partition was damaged when a couple of the boys were scuffling, but this was before the series was decided."

Ken Miller, president of the West Australian Lawn Tennis Association, said he does not intend to make an official complaint.

Dennis Ralston, 18, of Bakersfield, Calif., and Chuck McKinley, 19, of St. Louis, left by air with assistant captain Bernard (Tut) Bartzten.

Two for the price of one. He bought two Volkswagens instead of one conventional car, and solved all their transportation problems.

The down payment, the monthly payments and the running costs are just the same as if he had bought one big car, and repairs are fewer and further between.

Now, he drives to work; drives to the golf course; drives anywhere he wants to go. And his conscience is clear, because she has a car of her own. He loves the Volkswagen's sporty gear box; train-track cornering and crisp acceleration.

How clever he was to think of buying a pair. He beams when he remembers the moment the idea came to him.

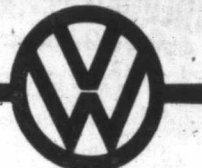

She never has to wheedle and coax to get the car. She does her errands just when it suits her. She feels safer when she's driving, because she knows she has complete control over the car. She parks while her friends cruise around looking for a big enough space.

And she thinks her VW is such a clever car. It never needs oil between changes, and it makes gasoline go a long, long way. (34 m.p.g. is average under normal driving conditions.) She runs her VW out of her housekeeping money.

She smiles when she recalls him getting the great idea of buying two Volkswagens. (She gave him the catalogue.)

If there's a car problem in your family, see your Volkswagen dealer. He will show you why two can drive as cheaply as one.

Little Paul's Scrawl Pays Off

OXFORD, England (UPI)—Little Paul Cox, all of 18 months old, picked up his first check, made eight scratchy checks and put his hard-pressed parents on easy street.

Paul's checks were one of the farthing (quarter penny) coupons entered each week by the thousands of players of the British soccer pools.

His checks turned out to be eight right picks on the week-end soccer games.

It all added up to a £43,283 ($121,192) tax-free jackpot, an all-time record for a farthing entry. And it could not have come at a better time.

In the first place, the lot was decidedly in the doghouse. He had just picked up his father's £21 ($59) pay cheque and, with childish abandon, tossed it into the fire. In the second place Paul's father, Norman, 26, expects to be laid off from his assembly line job at an Oxford automobile factory at Christmas time.

But the baby's lucky checks, entered by his mother, Jacqueline, 23, changed a bleak Christmas into one full of promise.

"The £21 the baby threw on the fire was a small fortune to us at the time," his father said. "But now we can buy a new house and get rid of our five-year-old car. Beyond that I don't know what we'll do."

"I am afraid Paul has an insatiable appetite for money," Cox added. "He hides it, eats it, destroys it, like a terrier."

"Now he's made it. The next thing we have to keep out of his way is the cheque."

Cox said he and his wife have not decided what to get their money-making baby for Christmas.

"But the man from the pools said he would bring Paul a big teddy bear as a gift when he comes to Oxford with our money next Thursday," he said.

Dechene Misses Scoreless Streak As Cougars Bow, 2-1, to Calgary

CALGARY — Lucien Dechene, turning in the kind of puck-blocking which earned him a place in the record books, missed an eight-year-old Western Hockey League

Dechene started his streak away back on Nov. 4, when he shut out the Canucks, 1-0, in a Vancouver game which saw him injure his ankle making a stop. He managed to finish out the last five minutes of the game but didn't get back into action until Nov. 22 at Spokane.

He lasted four minutes in that game, then his ankle gave out again. He finally got back on a full-time basis last Saturday, when he shut out the Canucks in Calgary, 2-0.

That Dechene got as close as he did needed some fine goaling. The Cougars, playing the first game of a seven-game road trip, proved hard to handle.

Playing without centre Red Johansen but with veteran defenceman Georges Roy making his NHL debut, the West Cougars fired 36 shots at Dechene and were unsuccessful to get the points.

Both Dechene and Victoria goalkeeper Marcel Pelletier played well throughout as the game went into the third period still scoreless. Then Gordie Veprava gave Stampers the lead when his shot went through defenceman Jim Hay's legs before eluding Pelletier.

CALGARY — Lucien Dechene, turning in the kind of puck-blocking which earned him a place in the record books, missed an eight-year-old Western Hockey League

Dechene started his streak away back on Nov. 4, when he shut out the Canucks, 1-0, in a Vancouver game which saw him injure his ankle making a stop. He managed to finish out the last five minutes of the game but didn't get back into action until Nov. 22 at Spokane.

He lasted four minutes in that game, then his ankle gave out again. He finally got back on a full-time basis last Saturday, when he shut out the Canucks in Calgary, 2-0.

That Dechene got as close as he did needed some fine goaling. The Cougars, playing the first game of a seven-game road trip, proved hard to handle.

Playing without centre Red Johansen but with veteran defenceman Georges Roy making his NHL debut, the West Cougars fired 36 shots at Dechene and were unsuccessful to get the points.

Rising Star of Bowlers Honored

B.C. tournament. Mills won $120 for taking all-events scratch and handicapped titles, finishing second in singles and eighth in doubles. His team placed ninth. (Bill Boucher photo.)

record by five minutes and 59 seconds in a squeaky 2-1 win over Victoria Cougars Tuesday night.

Playing only his ninth complete game because of a slow-healing ankle injury, Dechene was balked when Doug Macauley got the puck past him late in the third period.

The goal broke Dechene's scoreless streak at 177 minutes and 35 seconds. The record of 183 minutes, 34 seconds was set in 1952 by Jerry

Cotnoir of the Cougars.

Also on the all-star club are

and Doug McRory of New

and Cliff Sepka of New Westminster, forwards.

Ashbee's "comeback" last season after sitting out a half-season suspension, was the

Mann Cup final.

As a member of Nanaimo's

"big three" of Ashbee, Blonda and MacKay, he scored 50 goals and drew 12 assists for 12 points and still found time to lead the league in penalties

HALF TOTAL

Blonda, MacKay and Ashbee

322 goals during the season. Blonda and MacKay

both made the all-star club for the third straight year and Ashbee, who was all-star centre in 1958, probably would have made it again last year except for the suspension.

Blonda, unquestionably the

scoring title and the fifth in the five years he has played in the west. He scored 70 goals and assisted on 48 for 118 points, 42 more than Sepka, who finished second.

MacKay was tied for third in scoring with 72 points on

41 goals and 31 assists. Sepka made the all-star team in 1958, lost one forward spot to Vancouver's Gordie Gimples last year, and came back with 42

goals and 34 assists for 76 points to get the berth back this season.

Gimples was named winner of the Maitland Trophy for the third straight year as the player best combining sportsmanship, value to his team, and assistance to minor lacrosse.

Joseph, the wooden Indian who enjoyed a fine season for

A New Year's Day turkey dinner high on the slopes of Mount Brenton and a little skiing to work up a hearty appetite is the fare offered by Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club.

The turkey dinner will cost $1 a plate and a can of vegetables to the pot and the Sno-Birds welcome anyone who is interested in skiing and a happy-go-lucky get-together. Main proviso is anyone wishing to take in the event should phone the chief cook, Betty Brown, at GR 8-3489, so she can order a big enough turkey and make arrangements for the catering.

This mountain New Year dinner has become an annual event in the ski clubhouse, which was built by club members, and last year about 50 persons attended.

But, there is a catch to such a fine proposition. You have to be determined to get there, and may have to hike a few miles.

Last Sunday club members spliced the 700-foot tow rope on the beginners' slope and they had the traditional horrible weather to go along with the ceremony.

It snowed four to five inches up until 11 a.m., then when it came time for outdoor activity it turned to rain.

The Sno-Birds was formed in 1950 and by 1952 had its ski grounds on Mount Brenton, north of Duncan, ready for use. There are now about 130 members.

Camper on Vancouver Island last summer it is estimated, spent more than $300,000 here . . . good hard cash into the Island economy, which research shows would not come here otherwise.

Some $358,000 of this was spent by campers in provincial park campsites, who put in a record 178,932 camper days. The remainder is a conservative estimate of the money spent by users of the Island's privately-operated campsites.

The B.C. recreation department estimates that the average camper spends $2 a day, and this amount increases when boats are rented, as they invariably are on Vancouver Island, and when campers stay in private campsites.

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood reports park visits in all B.C. parks totalled a record of 3,100,000 during the past summer, an increase of 15 per cent over 1958.

Vancouver Island got 30 per cent of the park use and 76 per cent of the users were British Columbians, which is the same as the provincial average.

But the percentage of Americans using Vancouver Island parks was greater than elsewhere, 17 per cent compared to 13 per cent for the rest of the province. Other Canadians using the Island parks amounted to only seven per cent, compared to 11 per cent for the rest of the province.

The percentage of use by other Canadians, from without British Columbia, drops off with the distance from Alberta, according to recreation department calculations.

Americans spent 30,000 camper days in Island parks and spent more than $65,000.

Island parks used most by Americans were Goldstream and McDonald (Sidney) Park, where one-third of the users were Americans, and Quinsam Park where 40 per cent were Americans.

Bamberton Park was mostly used by lower-Islanders and 95 per cent of its users were British Columbians. Miracle Beach was next in popularity at home, with 89 per cent of its users British Columbians.

There were 380,000 day visits to Island parks, making 758,932 total visits, and these day-visits figures do not include Bamberton and Sproat Lake picnic sites, which could account for 150,000 more visits.

Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association had a successful Christmas turkey shoot last weekend despite the bad weather. Some 92 shooters were run through on Saturday and 108 on Sunday, which was a good test for the club's new trap layout.

Shooters from all over the lower Island turned out to win 250 turkeys and 75 hams. President Cliff Bate says a comfortable sum was raised towards paying for the newly-installed second electric trap.

Next big Christmas turkey shoot is the Victoria Gun Club's annual shoot in support of the Colonist's 500 Christmas Fund, to be held this coming weekend at the club's Albert Head grounds. Everybody is welcome to take part, whether or not they are shooters and the proceeds go to bring a Merry Christmas to the 500 most needy Victoria families where, without the 500 Christmas Fund the outlook for Christmas would be bleak indeed.

A formal request that all municipalities be allowed to vote on the Sunday sport issue has been made to the provincial government by the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Brief asking the government to amend the Municipal Act to permit Sunday sport in any municipality where a plebiscite shows a majority in favor of it was presented to the B.C. cabinet by Mayor Garvin Dezell of Prince George.

At the moment only Vancouver is allowed to hold sporting events on Sunday and charge admission. Vancouver got a special amendment to its city charter from the legislature.

Mr. Dezell said the rest of the province should have the same opportunity to decide on the issue through a plebiscite in each area.

Match Drawn

NAGPUR, India (Reuters)—The touring Pakistan cricket team's three-day match against Central Zone petersed out into a draw Sunday. Scores: Pakistan, 133 and 274 for 5 declared; Central Zone 149 and 194 for 4.

Australian Bowlers Limit Tourist Attack

BRISBANE (Reuters)—Australian bowlers hit back at West Indies Tuesday taking nine wickets for 259 runs and raising the prospect of an Australian victory on the final day of the five-day cricket test match Wednesday.

West Indies ended the day 207 runs ahead of Australia with one second-inning wicket standing. But the West Indian score of 259 was far below its first innings total of 453 and Australia's reply of 505.

The visitors lost five wickets for the addition of only 55 runs. Fast bowler Alan Davidson broke a stubborn fifth-wicket stand of 83 by Frank Worrell, who made 65, and Joe Solomon, 47, and then bowled Peter Lashley without addition.

BLINKY PALERMO

Could Be Cited for Contempt

Blinky Silent at Boxing Probe

WASHINGTON—Frank "Blinky" Palermo, risking a citation for contempt of Congress, invoked the fifth amendment at the senate boxing investigation yesterday and gave only two answers — his age and marital status.

The 55-year-old Philadelphia number's king, reportedly crime's head man in boxing while Frankie Carbo is in jail, refused to answer 11 other questions in a 45-minute session because "they might tend to incriminate me." His reasoning was that testimony here might prejudice a trial he faces in California on charges of attempting to muscle in on the earnings of former welterweight champion Don Jordan.

He championed this to such extent that chairman Estes Kefauver plans to recommend he be cited for contempt of Congress.

Palermo refused to tell the committee whether he even knew heavyweight contender Sonny Liston (in whose contract he reportedly has a 12 per cent share), former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta, former welterweight champion Johnny Saxton or ex-lightweight champ Ike Williams; whether he had other business besides boxing, how long he had been connected with boxing, or if he had ever been a fight manager.

He was finally dismissed subject to immediate recall. Then Liston took the stand and swore he does not know that any underworld characters take a slice of his earnings, and that if he finds any, he'll get rid of them.

Liston, who carries a long police record in St. Louis as well as a dazzling 30-1 boxing record, told investigators he was unaware that Palermo or John J. Vitale of St. Louis acted as his undercover manager.

Joseph "Pep" Barone, his manager of record, is reportedly too ill to testify.

The 27-year-old Negro, No. 1 contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title, cannot read and writes only numbers. After a two-hour session he was dismissed with a sympathetic lecture from Kefauver, who advised him to consult a clergyman, someone he can trust on financial matters, and possibly a police officer.

In a stumbling drawl, Liston

Joke's Over Says School

As far as University School is concerned the joke—if any—is over. The school wants its gate sign back.

The sign, bearing the school's name, motto and crest, hung on iron hooks at the school's Richmond Road entrance. It weighed more than 100 pounds, so would be difficult to lift free. It vanished around dusk on Dec. 3.

Hand-adzed, the sign was presented by the late Maj. James Wise in 1952 in honor of Gay Calton, then head boy.

"Put it back," headmaster J. J. Timmis urged the pranksters. "Lean it against the fence, or put it in the grounds. The joke is over."

By DICK WILLIAMS

Handsome young James Shigeta, who co-stars with Carroll Baker in "Bridge to the Sun," is an American citizen born of Japanese parents in Honolulu and educated in New York.

When Shigeta first came to Hollywood in 1951, he took the name of Guy Brian and the billing "Continental singer" when he sang at the Mocambo supper club. When this subterfuge failed to make him a night club star, he cast about for something new and was offered a singing date in Japan.

There was just one problem. He didn't know how to speak Japanese. But with a hired tutor, he became very big on Tokyo TV.

A year or two ago he returned to the States and last year was featured on an NBC-TV special. That night he introduced the boy who grew up in New York and hadn't known a word of Japanese as "the Perry Como of Japan."

Bigger Yacht Pool? Ha-Ha!

The seven-member Victoria Model Yacht Club startled city hall yesterday with a request for construction of a bigger and better yacht pool on Dallas.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow thought his leg was being pulled when he was asked for his reaction to the request.

"Ha, ha, ha!" he laughed. "What sort of a question is that?"

But, finding reporters were serious, he said a committee would have to consider the request, "though personally I would say there are many other things needed more for the good of the community."

Said Mayor Percy Scurrell: "With all the things we need so badly, where would we get $20,000 for another model yacht pool? Too many things are important to more people."

The model yacht club said the present pool, built as a Capital Improvement District

Curb Your Temper Young Driver Told

A suspended sentence, with precise restrictions on his driving, was given a Saanich youth by Magistrate William Ostler yesterday, following conviction on a charge of criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle.

Dennis Sanders, 18, of 1131 Reynolds, was accused of aiming his car at another youth Oct. 31 at Quadra and Rock Streets. He was found guilty a week ago and remanded to yesterday in Saanich court for sentence.

NOT INJURED

"It is fortunate," the magistrate said, "that this boy was not injured, but the fact is no credit to you. You must learn to govern your temper."

The magistrate added he approved "the farm work you are doing. It is character-building; and the way you are using your earnings is commendable."

"While I agree with the prosecutor (Kenneth Murphy) that a licence suspension is deserved in this case, I am prepared to put you on probation."

GOOD BEHAVIOR

Sanders was placed under bond of $250 for six months, and ordered to be of good behavior, especially towards the other youth ("this feud must end forthwith").

"In addition, you will be prohibited from driving any car except a vehicle owned by your employer on his business," the magistrate added.

"You will not drive your own car, or any car owned by your family or any friend, for the duration of this probation period."

"You will surrender the licence plates of your car to Saanich police, and not apply for new plates until the probation period is ended."

Ronald McL. Black, Lawrence R. Dunkley and Robert J. Zacharias, operating under the name of R. Black and Associates, 736 Cloverdale, pleaded guilty to permitting occupancy of a house that lacked water or sewer connections.

The house, they said, had been moved from one location to another. Court was told the family occupying it had been moved out and the necessary connections made. Black was fined $10 on each charge and the others were given suspended sentences.

Reginald William Reeve, 5181 Patricia Bay Highway, was fined $10 when he pleaded guilty to blasting without the necessary permit.

In city court Joseph Altorjai, 1308 Douglas, was remanded to Dec. 20 for preliminary hearing on a charge of attempted murder.

He was arrested following a disturbance in a downtown restaurant last spring, but was found incompetent to face trial and was committed to a mental institution.

An order-in-council last week returned him to stand trial.

Fancy Churches 'Edifice Complex'

REGINA (CP)—A former professor of comparative religion says the much-talked-of religious revival in North America is almost wholly a fiction of men's minds—the minds of those who confuse a social phenomenon with a religious one and spiritual experience with comfortable conformity.

Dr. S. E. Rosenberg, rabbi of Toronto's Beth Tzedec Synagogue, which has Canada's largest Jewish congregation, said:

"Our society is interested in the cult of the good fellow rather than the cult of the good man."

"The elaborate churches and church plants and facilities are a kind of 'edifice complex.' They are a symbol of social security and respectability and generous donations to keep them up have no necessary link with religious experience at all."

"It is just the thing to do to gain prestige in the community."

Zinc Curbs Ruled Illegal

WASHINGTON (CP)—There's a possibility that President Eisenhower's import curbs on lead and zinc may be illegal.

Confusion and doubt over his tariff-setting powers arose out of a lower court ruling which the surged administration urgently appealed. The Supreme Court has now refused to review the case.

Albert Schweitzer

Mecca for Outcasts

(Peter Worthington, Canadian correspondent, reports on a visit to Dr. Albert Schweitzer, 85-year-old "living legend" of Africa, in this third of five articles.)

By PETER WORTHINGTON

LAMBARENE, Gabon (TNS)—A leper colony is something that once seen can not be easily forgotten.

And here, at Dr. Albert Schweitzer's hospital in former French Equatorial Africa, are gathered 200 of the more pathetic and advanced leprosy cases in an area notorious for the disease.

The colony here is called Leperville.

And to walk through the rows and rows of corrugated iron huts, greeting and being greeted by people whose bodies are disintegrating and crumbling, is a humble and frightening experience.

The colony is a few hundred yards from the main hospital. You reach it by following a narrow path that twists through swamp jungles up a hill.

Occasional gravestones dot the high ground, giant palms

Dr. Schweitzer at work in his office with his cat.

The Living Legend

and papyrus the low ground. On both sides of the raised path is a steaming, stagnant swamp.

It has become popular for some critics to say Dr. Schweitzer's methods of treating leprosy are old-fashioned and outdated.

This is not true. The most modern drugs are used—some so expensive that even the modern government hospital at Lambarene village can't afford them.

Japanese Dr. Takahashi, an expert in leprosy, runs the colony.

The "speciality" of Leperville is cases so advanced that no cure or hope of recovery is held out. The lepers live as cripples, often with their families to see them through their last days.

You never really get used to the deformities, and the ugly white blotches and fiery pink patches that mark the leper. Every month some lepers are discharged and return to their tribes.

There are two aspects to leprosy. One is disease itself, the other is the stigma of being a leper. Here at Leperville, Dr. Schweitzer has cured the second, while medical science continues to battle the first.

No one knows the causes of leprosy. But it most frequently occurs where there is extreme heat, humidity and overcrowding.

Pockets of this area have a 24 per cent incidence rate among the population—probably tops for the world.

Dr. Schweitzer's hospital is Mecca to lepers. When they are expelled from their communities, after trying desperately for years to conceal the dread disease from fellow tribesmen, victims make their way to Lambarene.

Some had dragged and padded themselves hundreds of miles.

"People seldom die of leprosy," Dr. Schweitzer said. "But the affliction so reduces spirit and resistance that pneumonia, fever or some other disease does the actual killing."

While the stigma of being a leper remains strong, the dangers of infection and contamination are low. Though lepers live away from other patients, they work with them.

The boatman who paddled me across to the hospital had leprosy on his head. Another boatman's feet were afflicted, yet his arms and shoulders were strong enough to wield a paddle.

The advanced elderly leprosy cases are most pathetic and "hopeless"—and ghastly. These withered people lie in their huts with doors open so they can see what goes on. Their human curiosity is the last faculty to be destroyed by the disease of body rot.

Had Dr. Schweitzer done nothing else except establish this haven for lepers, he would rate the applause of a humane world. But today Leperville is only a side-product to the work going on at the hospital. In his old-fashioned, dictatorial, slightly tedious way, Dr. Schweitzer still looks to the future and brings hope to black Equatorial Africa.

"Face the future with realism...guard against complacency"

"We are a nation endowed with all the ingredients for national growth", said Neil J. McKinnon, Chairman and President, addressing the 94th Annual Meeting of The Canadian Bank of Commerce.

When we met a year ago, it was expected in many quarters that 1960 would be a very prosperous year. The nation had emerged from a mild recession, production was at record levels, and standing at the threshold of a new decade, many tended to view the future with somewhat excessive optimism, a view about which as you will recall we had some misgivings. During the year it became evident that the economy was not as buoyant as many people had anticipated, and public sentiment changed noticeably. Since then an increasing degree of caution has prevailed.

The Canadian economy entered 1960 on a high level of activity but the pace of growth slowed during the first quarter and this was followed by a slight decline in the second, although there have been indications of an improvement since then. At a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $35.0 billion in the second quarter output was at a relatively high level, comparing favourably with a Gross National Product in 1959 of some $34.6 billion and only slightly below the levels achieved in the final months of 1959 and early 1960.

The decline in business activity during the year has been mild compared with previous recessions which have followed periods of sustained activity. The preceding expansion was not excessive and we have witnessed a gradual readjustment in the economy rather than severe retrenchment.

During 1960, the North American continent, and to a lesser extent the rest of the world, has overcome its exaggerated and often unfounded fears of inflation. Speculative attitudes have been less prevalent, manufacturers and retailers have been disposed to reduce rather than add to their stocks, and consumers now tend to look around more carefully for values. Production capacity in nearly all industries and other sources of production is more than ample to meet existing demands, and as competition is intense, it is becoming increasingly difficult to pass on cost increases to consumers.

Industrial Production

Industrial production, which had been climbing in 1959, reached a peak in January 1960. It then declined irregularly until late summer and in September was some three per cent below its peak. Most of the reduction in output during the year took place in the durable goods manufacturing industries. Output of iron and steel, which was stimulated to high levels in the closing months of 1959 by the steel strike in the United States, declined until late summer, when it showed a tendency to firm. There have been sizable increases in the output of nickel and copper, which have enjoyed buoyant overseas markets. On the other hand, uranium output has been progressively cut back as a result of revised contracts negotiated with the atomic energy authorities of the United States and the United Kingdom. Oil production has continued to grow but at a slower rate than in 1959. Natural gas on the other hand is enjoying vigorous growth. Canada's forest industries have shown somewhat mixed trends. Newsprint producers have experienced a buoyant market but cutbacks in house-building in the United States and Canada have depressed the lumber industry although overseas sales on the whole have been steady.

Agriculture

Allowing for the regional differences which are so marked a feature of the Canadian agricultural scene, farmers appear to have enjoyed a satisfactory year. Larger cattle marketings in the eastern provinces and reduced grain deliveries in the West during the first half of the year are reflected in the farm incomes of these two regions. The wheat crop is of no more than average size this year, but the marketing situation continues to be most difficult. The creation of trading blocs in Europe may well have an adverse effect on Canada's grain trade. In the circumstances, it is difficult to foresee an early solution to Canada's surplus wheat problem. Unless markets can be expanded output will eventually have to be reduced, and efforts will have to be directed to the cultivation of alternative products.

Consumer Expenditures

Consumer expenditures have not expanded greatly this year and the volume of retail sales has barely held at last year's levels. Purchasing power in the hands of consumers has been maintained at high levels, although personal incomes have recently tended to level.

Consumers have been inclined to spend a larger proportion of their outlays on non-durable items and services. There is increasing evidence to suggest that consumer markets are undergoing a change arising from the shifting age composition of Canada's population. It is clear, too, that markets for many durable goods now appear to be temporarily satisfied. While a large replacement market is in the making for many items, purchases are more readily postponable and for this reason replacement demands tend to be less constant.

Moreover, consumer debt has risen to the point where it is equivalent to between 13 and 14 per cent of personal disposable income, representing a mortgage on future earnings which, if it is not already a limiting factor, may be not far short of it. This is one of the striking differences in our situation compared with five or ten years ago, and an apparent slowing down in the growth of consumer credit in recent months may be the first indication that we cannot for the present expect a marked stimulus to the economy from this source.

Capital Investment

Throughout the post-war period capital investment has provided a major support to the economy, contributing on the average about 25 per cent to total demand. Business outlays for plant and equipment in the first half of 1960 were a little below last year's annual rate. Although there is excess capacity in many industries, others are likely to require additional facilities in the near future. Demand for some products such as newsprint, petrochemicals and consumer goods is clearly trending upward, and industries catering to these demands will likely extend their facilities in due course. The decline in residential construction during the past year suggests that the backlog of demand built up as a result of World War II, Canada's expanding population, and increased incomes, has now largely been met. In some areas markets appear for the present to be adequately served, but this can only be a temporary condition in view of Canada's population growth.

Foreign Trade and Balance of Payments

Despite the diversification which has taken place in the Canadian economy in the post-war years, Canada still relies on her earnings in world markets to provide about one-quarter of her national income. The upsurge in world trade in 1959 mainly reflected the boom enjoyed by the industrial countries of the world and continued into 1960. Canadian exports shared in the general improvement and for most of 1960 were well above last year's level. A hard selling program, however, will be required if we are to capture permanent markets overseas, particularly for manufactured goods. Management in every field both domestic and export must deal resolutely with the new and difficult trade problems which are now emerging. Salesmanship will be ineffective if Canadian products are too costly in world markets and in this respect, relatively high labour costs represent a major disadvantage. Our standard of living cannot be maintained, let alone improved, if we cannot compete. The war-ravaged economies of Western Europe and Japan regained their places in production and world trade by the most rigorous devotion to control of costs and efficiency of production. Somewhat the same problem faces Canada today and there is a pressing need to improve the competitive position of industry by higher productivity and lower costs.

International Payments

During 1960 imports increased rather less than exports. For the year as a whole it is quite likely that the balance of trade on merchandise account will show a considerable improvement compared to 1959. However, Canada's large and growing external debt is reflected in larger payments abroad for dividends and interest, and it appears that another very large deficit will have been incurred in the balance of payments this year.

By the end of 1959 net foreign investment in Canada had risen to $15.3 billion and net payments of interest and dividends have been the largest item in the current account deficit in recent years — last year they amounted to $473 million. During the past ten years Canada's external indebtedness has increased four-fold, while net payments of interest and dividends have increased by little more than one-half. Much of the long-term investment which has occurred in Canada in recent years is not yet fully productive and earnings in many cases are being re-invested in Canada. Some day the full return may be remitted abroad and, although much of it will be earned in foreign markets, we should not overlook this potential commitment.

Monetary and Financial Developments

The absence of strain in the economy as a whole has been accompanied by a slight relaxation of the excessive monetary stringency which existed at this time last year. This has come about less by action to increase the money supply than through some moderation in the pace of demand for increased borrowings, more noticeable in public markets than in the banking system.

Within the banking system loans have in general continued at a high level. During the past year there has been a slight improvement in the liquidity of the banking system, but the money markets have shown no stability. Interest rates in the markets, although falling during the summer months have since risen sharply. For a nation whose trade and employment are suffering from a currency valued too highly in foreign markets, it is anomalous that interest rates should again be rising. There appears, however, to have been little, if any, positive effort by the Bank of Canada to influence the levels of interest rates. One may wish that there might be some evidence of a more positive attitude by our central bank, as there is by central bankers in other countries toward exchange and interest rates and the condition of the bond markets in general, which are traditionally in the recognized field of a central bank.

Over the past quarter century there has been an extensive growth of financing vehicles such as finance companies and deposit and loan organizations operating outside the field of influence of the Bank of Canada, and there has been evidence in recent years of some relative lessening in the extent of influence of monetary policy. These developments, together with the problems facing Canada in the international sphere and evidence of recurring movements in interest rates to an extent much greater than are desirable, would suggest that a thorough examination of the functions and responsibilities of the central bank and of the entire financial structure within the nation would be helpful. Such a study, if undertaken, should be painstaking, deliberate and unhurried, in order to allow the most careful consideration and to reach wise conclusions.

The Change from the Post-War Period

The events of the past year have served to show that we cannot take for granted a continuance of the impressive growth that has occurred in Canada since the end of World War II and expect it to progress with undiminished vigour in the years immediately ahead. We have come to the end of a period, and the nation's present economic position must be appraised in the light of the changes which have taken place since the end of World War II, not only in Canada but in the rest of the world. The rebuilding of the war-ravaged countries has now been achieved, and they have been energetic and successful in gaining world markets. The industrial complexes of Western Europe and Japan possess modern equipment and are not only highly productive but also enjoy a great advantage in long established lower labour costs. In recent years these nations have offered severe competition in world markets, and have forced us out of the complacent mood which had been so characteristic of the post-war years.

During the post-war period the United States shouldered by far the largest part of the burdens of defence and foreign aid undertaken by the free world, and among others the nations of Continental Europe and Japan particularly owe a great debt of gratitude to the United States which has been magnanimous in its help. But now the United States faces a payments problem of its own. This threatens to curtail the international flow of funds from the United States, which has provided major support to world trade in the post-war years; without this support the whole of the free world would be a much poorer place to live in today.

The past few years have seen the emergence of the Common Market and the Free Trade Area in Europe and there seems to be a tendency to the formation of similar blocs in other parts of the world. Should they come into being, the world economic scene may be dominated by a few individually large groups, a type of world quite different from the multilateral system of trade and payments which Canada worked so hard to establish in the post-war years. It would be most unfortunate for the future prosperity of the free world if this movement developed into mutually exclusive trading areas.

These developments on the international scene, accompanied as they have been by slower growth in the Canadian economy, have influenced the temper of the times in Canada. We must now face the future with realism and guard against being carried away by misplaced expectations or by complacency. Canada today possesses a more diverse economy than at any other time in its history, and our internal strength and resilience have improved greatly over the past quarter of a century.

We are a nation endowed with great riches of industrial raw materials, vast sources of fuel and energy, food production far beyond our needs, a growing population of energetic people, and a stable political system — all the ingredients for national growth. Given wise and courageous management at every level of economic activity — in industry, commerce, labour, and finance — in monetary administration and at all levels of governmental administration, we can face the future with confidence knowing that the readjustment from a decade of shortages to one of plenty can lead to higher production and to the support of an increasing population.

J. P. R. Wadsworth, Vice-President and General Manager, reviewed the balance sheet, highlights of which are summarized, and said in part:

The Bank's 94th annual statement records an increase in assets of $179,000,000 for the fiscal year under review, and shows total assets of $3,155,000,000, the largest total of assets in the Bank's history.

Quick assets increased by $140,000,000, and at $1,637,000,000 represents over 55 per cent of the Bank's liabilities to the public.

The demand for commercial and other loans remained strong throughout the year, and the total of $1,233,000,000 under this heading has increased by $33,000,000. The larger part of this increase is in loans to smaller borrowers, such as farmers and the proprietors of small business concerns.

National Housing Act loans rose to $189,000,000, the increase of $2,500,000 being represented by commitments made some time ago.

Bank Premises account increased by $3,709,000 to $42,059,000.

On the liability side, total deposits now amount to $2,916,000,000, an increase of $162,000,000. The number of depositors increased steadily throughout the year, and personal savings deposits increased by $35,000,000 to a new high of $1,404,000,000.

The number of issued shares of capital stock, at 5,400,000, did not alter during the year. The total of paid-up capital and rest account is now $184,000,000. The number of shareholders increased during the year to 20,705.

The statement of undivided profits records an increase in net profit after taxes of $1,481,404. Net profit per share is $2.33 as compared with $2.06 in the previous year.

After payment of dividends, the amount carried forward was $2,069,812 which, when added to the balance of undivided profits as at October 31, 1959, and with the further addition of a transfer of $6,000,000 from inner reserves, resulted in a balance of $11,191,448. From this total the transfer of $10,200,000 was made to rest account, leaving a balance in undivided profits as at the year end of $991,448.

Some time ago we announced that in association with a Montreal group we had acquired a property in the City of Montreal located on Dominion Square at Dorchester Boulevard, on which a new building to be 43 floors in height and to contain approximately 600,000 square feet is now in the course of erection. The new building, to be known as The Canadian Bank of Commerce Building, is exceptionally well situated on the growing Dorchester Boulevard area, and it is expected that it will be completed and ready for occupancy in 1962.

During the year we continued to direct considerable effort and study to improving the quality of our service and the efficiency of our operations, and these matters continue to receive our constant attention.

The facilities now provided at our branches, opportunities for advancement, attractive rewards, and benefits make employment with the Bank attractive for any young man or woman who has the necessary qualities and qualifications.

During the past fall I had the privilege of visiting a number of branches in Western Canada and was able to talk to many of our personnel, both men and women, at those points. It was quite evident that in nearly every case even the newest and youngest member of the personnel had quickly become a member of the team and did not regard a position with the Bank as "just a job". The leadership of the senior men and women in the branches is instrumental in infusing this team spirit which will contribute much to our progress in the years to come.

Heavy Rains

Alberni Area Flooded

ALBERNI—Rainfall in the 24 hours ending at 8.30 Tuesday measured 5.25 inches, according to weather observer Colin S. Wilson. It brought the total since 1.45 p.m. Saturday to 8.14 inches.

Result of the downpour was seen in the high level of lakes and streams in the area.

Water overflowed the banks of Kitsukis Creek, inundating grounds of many homes in the Margaret Street area. City workmen were engaged Tuesday morning in an attempt to release a log which had been carried by the force of the water under the Kitsukis Creek Bridge.

Lodged among the piles it was regarded as a threat to the old wooden span—as debris began to pile up against it.

Two bad washouts were reported on the Alberni-Tofino highway at Taylor River Flats. A provincial highways department employee said the road would be closed to traffic until Thursday at the earliest.

Port Renfrew

San Juan Bridge Bolstered

PORT RENFREW—A provincial government crew is replacing pilings under a bridge which spans the San Juan River here.

A sandbar which had built up at the mouth of the river forming a cove where many fishermen could tie up their boats during rough weather has gradually washed away, leaving no protection.

Waves now break under the bridge and a heavy storm with a freshet running in the river could demolish it.

The bridge has been washed out three times in the past.

Lake Road

Sleeping Driver In Plunge

DUNCAN—A driver whose car plunged off the Cowichan Lake Road early yesterday told police, "I fell asleep."

Robert C. Bell, 2402 Heather, was returning from Youbou with three passengers, Art Raynor, Ray Manweiler and Harry Lang. None were hurt. Damage to Bell's car was estimated at $400.

Serious Condition

Driver Crushed In Crash

DUNCAN—The driver of a car which struck another south of here yesterday is in serious condition in King's Daughters' Hospital.

Suffering head, face and chest injuries after his head smashed through the windshield and his body crushed the steering wheel is Robert J. Weston of Ganges.

"It looked as though he passed out to me," said eyewitness James Gilbert of nearby Cobble Hill.

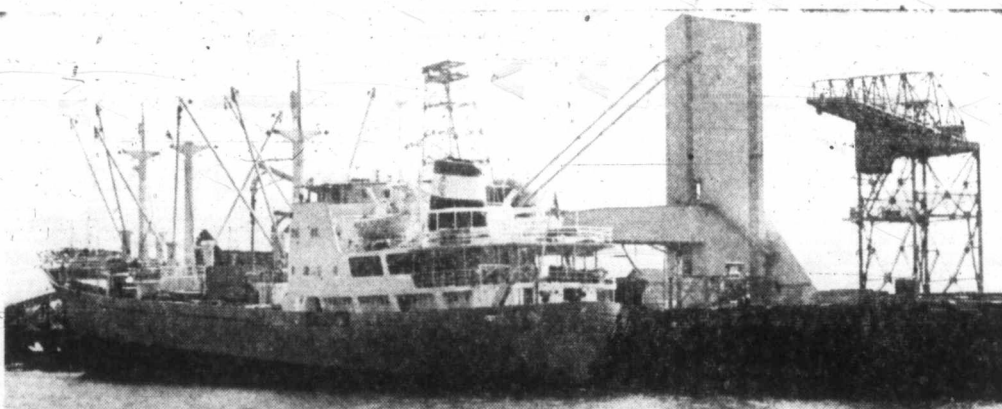

Police said the vehicles crashed in the east lane of the Trans-Canada Highway, about three miles south of Duncan.

Weston's car was wrecked. "I came out of the service station and was cutting across onto Wilmet on my way home," said W. E. Fraser, driver of the other car, who lives half a mile away on Old Schoolhouse Road.

He was crossing to the east side of the highway from Ced's Service Station and Weston was proceeding south.

The injured man, who was alone in his seven-year-old small car, was rushed to hospital by Kiwanis' ambulance after receiving aid from attendants George Sinden and Ken Byce.

Police said he was unconscious and could not be interviewed.

Funds Set for Busy Dock

Federal government will spend $724,814 on repairs and extensions to Nanaimo's busy docks where Mv Kongsholm is seen unloading "salt cake" for Vancouver Island pulp mills. Docks handle 80 large ships a year and will be refurbished in about 14 months.—(June Leahy photo.)

Bus Will Round Up Kelsey Bay Buyers

CAMPBELL RIVER—When this community goes out to get Christmas shoppers it goes all the way.

Fearing that Kelsey Bay residents might shop elsewhere if left to their own devices, Campbell River merchants teamed up to charter a 60-passenger Island Coach Lines bus for the 104-mile round-trip.

The bus will bring Kelsey Bay residents to Campbell River free of charge next Saturday and return them after a suitable interval in local stores.

Oh, jingle bells... jingle bells...
I beg your pardon, sir? Christmas bills getting you down? Short of money, eh? Didn't you start a Christmas Account last year? Well you should make sure you do this year. A few dollars each payday add up to all you need to do your Christmas shopping, and then some. And, of course, you know the best place to open your Christmas Account?

THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA, naturally!

Weaving Seaman Fined

DUNCAN—Able Seaman R. L. Tweter of Victoria was fined $150 yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving after a patrol car saw his vehicle weaving on the highway.

"I'm sorry to see a man in your position up on such a charge," said Magistrate A. C. Sutton, who also suspended his driver's licence for six months.

"I had wipers but not the switch," said Mr. Tweter.

Also in court, George H. Poppstone, Menzies Road, who was fined $10.

BEST KNOWN because they're best for TRUCK PERFORMANCE

Again in '61—Chevrolet Trucks bring you the power, the economy and the engineering that have made them Canada's number one choice for performance—year after year.

Model illustrated: M-70 Tandem

Chevrolet Truck engineers built Chevy for top performance. For example, independent front suspension and vari-rate rear springs combine to speed your loads over the toughest roads. Bigger brakes not only give safer, sure stopping power, they keep their stopping power longer. And Chevrolet's high performance V8's and famous 6's provide the heart of the power teams that make Chevrolet the outright champions of the truck world. Learn about the many other outstanding performance features that make Chevrolet worth more because it works more from your Chevrolet dealer today.

Then for a truck that gets the work done with less complaint—make the choice that most truck owners make year after year! Get a Chevrolet Truck... first for performance... first in sales!

Didn't Want to Lose My Littlest Brother

ONTARIO, Ore. — "Well, I didn't want to lose my littlest brother just because I was askeered," said Jerry Davis, 11, explaining why he ran through a wall of flame and saved his two-year-old brother, Mark, Monday night. He did it once more, too, and rescued another brother, Neil, 4.

Then he was taken to a hospital for treatment of severe hand, face and ear burns.

VANCOUVER — Hamish McKay, deported from the U.S. because he is supposed to have once belonged to a Communist organization, has been granted unemployment insurance benefits of $40 a week.

TORONTO — Malcolm Muggeridge criticized Nobel literature prizes, Sir Winston Churchill's writing and the UN, saying "Nobel literature prizes are awarded to some of the worst writers in the world."

TORONTO — Miner Alan Rose continues to defy death and medical experts who two days ago had given him little chance of living. Rose, 26, has been close to death ever since he was entombed in a Timmins gold mine collapse.

NEW YORK — Bandleader Guy Lombardo, who missed his first opening night in 30 years because of Monday's blizzard, arrived with his orchestra after a 24-hour bus trip from Pittsburgh.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Floyd Holsapfel, 36-year-old ex-convict, has pleaded guilty to the drowning of circuit Judge Curtis E. Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, five years ago.

MONTREAL — Irish playwright Brendan Behan packed his bags yesterday and prepared to sail home after three months in the U.S. and a lost weekend in Montreal.

MONTREAL — Eugene Bennett, 37, a former toll collector on the Jacques Cartier bridge, Tuesday was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one day in jail for charging truckers less than the regulation toll.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. — Harold Harris, victim of an acid attack by a man whose wife he seduced 28 years ago, is laughing at the whole thing now. "But who knows what's going to happen next time?" He was attacked last year by Walter Swedburg, 48, who came here from Regina to avenge his wife's pre-marital seduction. He pleaded guilty Monday to causing bodily harm.

SOLOTHURN, Switzerland — Actor-director Gregory

Dogs Decision Faces Deadline

Saanich must decide within six months whether it wants to build proper pound facilities or hand over pound operation to the SPCA.

This fact emerged last night during a lengthy, sometimes bitter debate by members of council's public works committee on the unsatisfactory state of the municipal pound operation.

The meeting also produced these new developments:

• A special committee will be appointed to study the whole pound question and recommend a solution to council early next year.

• Police Chief W. A. Pearson urged "complete revamping" of the municipal pound operation and its relocation near the proposed new police headquarters on the municipality's Swan Lake property.

• Public works committee rejected an SPCA offer to take dogs picked up by the Saanich poundkeeper board them for four days at nominal charge, keep those suitable for adoption and destroy others that remained unclaimed.

• It also decided, as a temporary measure, that the SPCA should be asked to destroy unclaimed Saanich dogs at no charge providing the municipal poundkeeper delivered them to the society's Victoria branch headquarters.

• Poundkeeper Tom Sinclair reported that from Jan. 1, when the new bylaw became effective, to Oct. 20 this year 702 dogs were impounded. Of these 317 were claimed by their owners and 385 others were destroyed.

Chief Pearson reported few dogs are now to be seen roaming Saanich streets and there is seldom a complaint of dogs on school grounds, where before the new bylaw, "every school had 18 to 20 dogs running around."

He said there was no basis to complaints that the poundkeeper and his helper had mistreated dogs under their care. Investigation showed, the chief said, they handled the dogs "in a proper manner" despite totally inadequate facilities.

If the pound remained at its present Royal Oak location, the police chief said, it would be almost impossible for his men to continue the present practice of releasing dogs claimed at night, once the department moved to its new quarters. This would probably be in about six months time.

"We're doing more to contain our dogs than any other municipality," said Coun. Leslie Passmore. "But I'm not in favor of the conditions we operate under... and I would agree to spending a considerable sum to make the pound operation more humane."

"If the SPCA wants to get nasty, then let them get nasty," said Reeve George Chatterton, referring to a letter from the society which condemned the pound six weeks ago.

"I'm not concerned with the SPCA," retorted Mr. Passmore. "But we do have an obligation to provide proper facilities for the dogs we pick up. I don't like to think of them shivering cold down there."

The special committee will see what can be done to provide some heating for the pound as well as a plywood cover for the exercise run and a partitioned section for savage dogs.

Teachers Rest Case

Arbitration board decision on a demand for a 6.4 per cent average wage increase for Greater Victoria teachers will be brought down "in due course," board chairman O. M. Prentice said at the conclusion of hearings at the school board offices yesterday. Trustees of school district 61 oppose an increase. Final arguments were made yesterday morning by the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Reject Motion Calling Split Illegal

Servants Reaffirm Break with Labor

Victoria branch of the B.C. Government Employees' Association has refused to rejoin the Victoria Labor Council despite charges that their move in disaffiliating was unconstitutional.

A letter from BCGEA general secretary E. P. O'Conner expressed the opinion that a referendum was required to authorize disaffiliation.

At their meeting Monday night members voted 25-6 against a motion by member John H. Wood to declare the disaffiliation move Nov. 14 unconstitutional. Mr. Wood is also the research assistant to CCF leader Robert Strachan but has been a member of the BCGEA for eight years.

The meeting did, however, agree to refer the issue to the provincial executive for advice. Secretary Jack Hawes explained to the meeting that local branches were not bound to accept opinions from the general secretary.

The executive body of the association had not itself ruled on the question.

Association members are at present voting on the question of continued affiliation with the B.C. Federation of Labor. Ballots must be returned by Friday.

Seals Net $16,000

Sale of Christmas seals, sponsored by the Soroptimist Club of Greater Victoria, has netted $16,143 to date, Mrs. J. U. Kimmitt, chairman of the seal committee, said yesterday.

Christmas seals are still available at Room 14, 749 Broughton, RV 2-4422, she said.

Harrowing Tofino-Alberni Run

Bus Navigates Inundated Road

Headlights Disappeared Under Swirling Waters

PORT ALBERNI—Neither Paul Revere nor the pony express ever had it any tougher than the Orient Coach Lines Tofino-Alberni bus on Monday.

The bus got through, but owner-driver Noel Hamelin said he will never forget the harrowing run. (See rain story, Page 14.)

After bucking a wild west coast storm, flash floods and frequent washout for 65 miles he said, "I'll remember it all my life."

Many times, he said, he doubted that he would bring the bus and its 11 passengers through.

In one place water was over the headlights as Mr. Hamelin felt his way through flood waters where Taylor River had risen above its banks and inundated the dirt road. He waded in water to his waist to shove debris out of the path of the bus and he was knocked headlong into the water by a swirling log as it shot past in flood waters.

There were at least a dozen washouts but the worst was the length of two city blocks. He said he had to feel for the road with the front wheels, driving at a crawl and not sure whether there was any road in front of him. First the fog lights were under water, then the driving lights were covered as he drove some 20 feet in the pitch dark, with water gurgling under the door.

Mr. Hamelin said he was thankful his passengers, all adults, remained calm as he was too busy driving to have time to deal with panic. Some, seated toward the rear of the bus, may not have realized the danger but one man stood at the front and shared the driver's anxiety, but still remained calm.

The bus service to the west coast was instituted by Mr. Hamelin and Lawrence Nelson last September. Mr. Nelson is the regular driver of the 33-passenger bus but was off sick on Monday.

By coincidence Mr. Nelson was also unable to make the trip some two weeks ago when the bus ran into its first experience of winter conditions. Mr. Hamelin drove over the snow-covered hills and the bus was the only vehicle to get through when cars and freight trucks stalled on the road.

Highway department officials declared Tuesday that the Tofino Road would be closed for at least two days for repairs, but Mr. Hamelin said he will ask permission to take the bus through on its regular schedule Tuesday.

Community Chooses Executive

Brian Hoole was elected president of the Prospect Lake and District Community Association at the recent annual meeting.

Other officers and committee chairmen include Mrs. Dorothy Rose, vice-president; Mrs. E. C. Wilson, recording secretary; Mrs. Loretta Hornsey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Caroline Howes, treasurer; Mrs. Sybil M. McCulloch, sports; W. S. Norington, local improvements; Mrs. W. A. Lawrence, entertainment, and D. C. Wright, publicity.

Council Recount Set

A judicial recount to determine whether A. W. Toone or W. C. Hudson won a seat on city council in the civic elections Thursday was set yesterday for 9.30 a.m. Monday by Judge J. B. Clearihue. The recount will be at city hall under Judge Clearihue's supervision.

Holidays For Postmen

There will be no letter carrier delivery service, Dec. 26, Dec. 27 or Jan. 2, the post office announced yesterday.

Street letter boxes will be emptied in the evening only and central post office wicket service will be available Dec. 27 only from 8 a.m. to noon.

No Support, No Quitting

Commission Fate Left to Members

Refused dismissal and refused a vote of confidence by city council, and left to decide for itself what to do next, the Memorial Arena commission plans to meet Thursday.

Chairman Frank G. Mulliner said last night he hadn't "the faintest idea" what decision the commission might come to.

The commission informed council Monday that it had been unable to reach a conclusion on council's suggested solution to the arena controversy: quick acceptance of arena manager Joseph Dukowski's resignation and rehiring of six employees.

It said it had gone back to its Nov. 21 decision—which led commissioner Courtney Hadcock to walk out—to undertake restaffing of the arena at once, accept the resignation of Mr. Dukowski effective in 90 days, and consider applications from those who had resigned.

Cargo Fleet for Canada?

City Shipbuilders Cross Fingers

Victoria shipbuilders held high hopes for the industry's future last night if Parliament backs re-establishment of a Canadian merchant marine.

Reaction followed confirmation in Ottawa by Transport Minister Balcer that such legislation would be introduced at this session of Parliament.

"It's a pretty sad state of affairs for a country like Canada, third exporting nation in the world, not to have a merchant marine," said H. A. Wallace, vice-president of Yarrows Ltd.

HIGH FREIGHT

He agreed with T. R. McLagan, president of Canada Steamship Lines Ltd., who claimed recently that Canada's huge trade deficit is caused in part by freight payment to other nations for carrying our imports and exports.

Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot, said the shipbuilding industry would be revived if the federal government's plan includes a depreciation allowance to the owner who builds his ships in Canada.

Similar inducements are offered in both the United States and the United Kingdom, encouraging owners to build at home rather than in some foreign country, he said.

Details of the government's merchant marine plan are not known.

"I can only say if it is the proposal shipbuilders have been asking for then it will help the shipbuilding industry," said Mr. Husband.

Diet-Conscious Housewives Whipped in Cream Fight?

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

SECOND LOOK: Housewives who have been bemoaning the province-wide ban on the sale of a whipping cream substitute named Dreamwhip may take some consolation from the promise by Agriculture Minister Frank Richter to review the matter.

But the situation doesn't look too hopeful. Former minister Newton Steacy banned the product when farmers flooded his office with protests. The banning was made possible under the Milk Act which forbids the sale of dairy products substitutes.

Diet-conscious housewives went for Dreamwhip in a big way because of its low calorie content and are far from happy over the fact it can be bought everywhere in North America—except B.C.

But, we pointed out earlier, they shouldn't get their hopes up. Mr. Richter was asked how come this dairy substitute was banned while another, margarine, was sold widely in B.C. "Two wrongs don't make a right," he replied.

CAR FAN: No names here, just in case car thieves think they've found an easy mark, but there's one city couple still shaking their heads over the circumstances surrounding the theft and recovery of their neat little British sports car the other day.

There was a general wringing of hands and tearing of hair when the car was found gone and the couple had visions of the vehicle eventually being found wrecked or damaged. They were shocked when the police recovered the car on a parking lot a few days later. It had been cleaned, the cigaret trays had been emptied, the gas supply had been replenished and none of the equipment and personal effects in the car had been touched.

TEA TIME TROUBLE: During the squabble over Columbia River financing here last weekend a member of federal Justice Minister Davie Fulton's policy liaison team was engaged in a survey concerning lesser things.

Stuart Fleming, MP for Okanagan-Revelstoke (who was elected as president of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association last weekend), reported that the Empress Hotel wasn't as English as everyone tried to make out.

The reason: his survey disclosed that the Empress makes its tea with tea bags—and that's jolly well not done in the best of circles, old man!

STRANGE HOBBY: Roy Ashworth, manager of Maynard's, says he's never seen anything quite like the collection of 11,000 buttons now on display in his auction rooms.

The buttons were collected from all parts of Canada and the U.S. and are all different. They're mounted on cards.

Mr. Ashworth says the buttons are primarily for display purposes but the collection is open to private offers.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: How does a man break the news that it's all over and there's someone else?

I went with Betty for six years. We're now in our middle 30's. She's a fine person, but I fell out of love with her when she told me for the fifth time she wasn't ready to give up her career to marry me.

Betty is a capable woman and makes almost as much money as I do.

Anyhow, I know now I love someone else—who will marry me any time I say. I feel a warmth toward my new sweet heart that I never felt for Betty—probably because she's let me know she loves me better than her job.

How do I tell Betty without hurting her? She doesn't have the faintest idea that there is anyone else.—MIKE.

Dear Mike: Tell Betty immediately—and don't be too concerned about her feelings. She's probably been waiting for sand-bag you with similar news for a long time.

A gal in her 30's who drags her feet on the way to the altar because she likes her career better than the man will not die of heartbreak when she hears he has another love. She'll probably be relieved to be off the hook.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a friendly sort who likes to go visiting during the evening. The trouble is he doesn't want to change from his work clothes. He does manual labor and gets pretty dirty.

He says if people like him

Executive Chosen By City Pensioners

R. H. French was elected president at a recent meeting of the Old-Age Pensioners Association, No. 1.

Other officers elected were Grace Sherwood, first vice-president; Herbert Ryall, second vice-president; Bill Hobbs, secretary; Herbert Browning, treasurer; and Mrs. M. B. Hawkins, entertainment convener.

GOLDEN AGE

Esquimalt Golden Age Club will hold a social Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 2 p.m. at the Community Hall.

they'll accept him as he is. According to him if they enjoy his company—his clothing doesn't matter.

I've thought of going visiting in my housedress with messed up hair, just to show him how it looks, but I'm afraid I'd only be hurting myself.

Other than this, he's a wonderful husband. Can you tell me what to say to him to prove I'm right? Or is he right?—EUREKA WIFE.

Dear Eureka: Your husband not only wants to wear the wrong clothes for visiting, he has the shoe on the wrong foot.

Instead of making the position that if his friends like him it won't matter how he looks, he should show respect for THEM by changing from his work clothes when he visits.

I don't say he must wear his Sunday best—or even put on a white shirt and wear a tie—but a man who does manual labor should change to fresh slacks and a sport shirt before making a social call on friends.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a freshman in college and my steady girl is a high school junior. Since I got to this university, which is 500 miles from home, Norma has phoned me collect at least twice a week—not to talk, but to cry. She's worried that I won't be true to her. The guys in the dorm hang around and make cracks because they know her voice already. I'm taking a lot of ribbing and it's costing me dough. I hate to tell her to stop calling, but I wish she would. Help, please.—AL.

Dear Al: A college guy who tries to go steady with a high school junior 500 miles away is short-changing himself and the girl, too. And SHE has a nerve to rain on you twice a week—collect yet. Disconnect, Buddy, for good.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Buffet Entertaining

Just as sure as Christmas means turkey and cranberries, it will mean a party or two at your house. Wondering what to serve? Looking for something "different"? Then come to our buffet table, and help yourself to ideas planned for easy preparation and serving, and wonderful eating.

CRABOLE TURKEY

(Makes 8 Servings)

One-third cup butter, 1 onion, thinly sliced, 1 green pepper, cut in thin strips, 3/4 cup thinly-sliced celery, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1 (20-ounce) can tomatoes, 1 (6-ounce) can tomato paste, 1/4 teaspoon horseradish, 2 cups cut-up cooked turkey, 1 (40-ounce) can sliced mushrooms, drained.

Melt butter in large saucepan. Add onion, green pepper and celery; fry gently until almost tender. Stir in flour, salt and paprika. Gradually stir in tomatoes and tomato paste; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until smoothly thickened. Add and mix in horseradish, turkey and drained mushrooms. Serve hot with parsleyed buttered rice.

EMERALD STAR SALAD

One large (6-ounce) package lime-flavored jelly powder, 2 cups hot water, 2 cups cold water, 1 (4-ounce) package softened cream cheese, 1/4 cup finely-chopped walnuts, 1 (11-ounce) can mandarin oranges.

Three egg whites, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup fruit or fine granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 1 small (3-ounce) package raspberry-flavored jelly powder, 1 cup hot water, 1 (10-ounce) package frozen raspberries in syrup, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 pint (1 1/4 cups) whipping cream.

For the meringue shell: Line a 9-inch pie plate with foil; brush with soft butter.

well drained; 1 cup thinly-sliced celery.

Preheat oven to 275°F. (slow). Sprinkle egg whites with salt; beat until stiff but not dry. Beat in sugar, a tablespoon at a time, and continue to beat until meringue forms stiff peaks. Combine water, vanilla and vinegar. Gradually beat into meringue. Spread meringue evenly in pie plate, bringing it well up the sides of the plate. Bake in preheated oven 1 to 1 1/4 hours. Cool completely.

RASPBERRY ANGEL PIE

For the filling: Dissolve jelly powder in hot water; stir in frozen raspberries and syrup, lemon rind and juice. Chill until mixture just begins to set. Beat half the whipping cream until softly stiff. Spread a thin layer of cream in bottom of cold meringue shell. Turn partially-set jelly over this. Chill at least 2 hours. Just before serving garnish with remaining cream, whipped until softly stiff.

Note: This dessert can be made well ahead of time and should be made at least 2 hours ahead of time in order to have the meringue soft and melted.

Fragile Articles Need Extra Care in Packing

There's an old English nursery rhyme that says "The children in Holland take pleasure in making what the children in England take pleasure in breaking"—and how true it seems to be in Canada, too, especially around Christmas time! But broken toys and scattered games notwithstanding, children do grow up and learn to treasure their gifts. Some day, they'll be every bit as disappointed as we are when a favorite possession is broken.

It's this often-needless fear of breakage that keeps many persons from sending friends the gifts they like to on special occasions like Christmas.

If you're planning on packing gifts to be marked "fragile" for shipping, here are a few easy-to-follow rules: pack items tightly enough so they can't move about, but allow good separation between, and pack it well with wood excelsior or tissue. Wrap each item separately in tissue paper, with stems swathed in paper or excelsior. Best container is a corrugated cardboard box, firmly taped and labelled clearly.

When sending precious gift items to another city, most of us are inclined to pop them into the mail, especially if they are "small" packages. Experts tell us that it's better to send them by express, no matter how small they may be, since express packages are insured against both loss and breakage, whereas packages sent by mail are insured against loss only. There is no charge for insurance on express packages below the value of $50.

Missionary from India Speaks at WA Meeting

Miss Betty Giovetti, B.A., vice-principal of Alexandra High School, Amritsar, Punjab, India, was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church in St. Saviour's Church.

Miss Giovetti showed slides of her work in India. Dressed in traditional costume of long, full trousers, knee-length coat with slits at the side to show a lace petticoat, she was a colorful and interesting figure. She wore a sari scarf draped over her back, which she showed was very useful when needed to cover the head on entering church. She said that they were also used by many of the girls in India to cover their faces in the presence of men.

This is Miss Giovetti's first visit to this diocese as an official visitor. She spoke of the children of India arriving at school by pony cart, tonga bicycle and on foot. She said many of the children board at the school because of the long distances they would have to come. They travel with all their bedclothing, as only the bed is provided in hotels. The boarding house for the school was built in 1878 by the Missionary Society.

"In India," Miss Giovetti explained, "the Indian people do not wash in a bath tub—they do not like to wash in their own dirty water. Instead, they soap themselves well, then take a 'shower' by pouring water over themselves from a jug."

They wear many ornaments, bangles and nose rings which they acquire when they are quite young. The nose rings are worn to keep the area in the nose open to be ready to wear the more elaborate ring when they marry. They also wear toe rings and silver anklets, the speaker said.

Miss Giovetti is one of only two missionaries out there. The other is Miss Beryl Stone at Auckland House, Simla.

Following the meeting, presided over by Mrs. B. P. Harding, a short service was held in the church by Rev. Mr. Wheeler.

ST. COLUMBA

The following slate of officers was elected by acclamation at the recent meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Columba Anglican Church at the home of Mrs. Harold Sioman, Tofino: president, Mrs. Kenneth MacKenzie; vice-president, Mrs. Harold Sioman; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Harold Arnet; executive member, Mrs. Karl Arnet.

Court Martial Told

Short Crew Fired Overloaded Shell

FRANKFURT (UPI)—An artillery shell that killed 17 men in the U.S. Army's most disastrous training accident in Germany was fired by an undermanned crew confused about the loading, witnesses told a court martial yesterday.

Two members of the howitzer crew that fired the shell Sept. 2 on the army's Grafenwoehr training area testified the crew was below strength and not sure of the type of charge used for the shell.

The army has charged two officers and an enlisted man in the crew with negligent homicide. The charge specifies the shell carried seven bags of powder instead of the prescribed five and resulted in the shell travelling two miles past its target and landing in an infantry tent camp just after morning roll call.

The accused are 2nd Lieut. Mark Kempf, 24, of San Antonio, Texas, the safety officer; 1st Lieut. George O'Grady of Arlington, Va.; and PFC Raymond R. Riggs of New Iberia, La.

The prosecution charged that Kempf failed to check the powder charge. Kempf is currently on trial and the other two men will go on trial next week.

Cpl. Billy Nifong of Thomasville, N.C., ammunition non-com of the crew, testified "if we had had all 20 men (of the crew) I would probably have been supervising the cutting of the powder." Nifong, now back in the United States, testified by deposition.

PFC Napoleon Jackson, of Chicago, said he was doing the job of both crew chief and gunner.

Jackson testified that he asked Kempf if the gun was safe to fire.

"I got a nod of the head and I took that to mean yes," Jackson said. Nifong also testified that Kempf reported the gun safe for firing.

Fifteen soldiers were killed outright when the shell landed in their midst. Two more died later and 25 more were wounded. Some still are undergoing treatment.

All three of the accused men face maximum sentences of one year in prison, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and separation from the army, if convicted.

Europe

'Partner'

PARIS (UPI)—The United States, Canada and 18 nations of Western Europe agreed yesterday to set up a free world economic co-operation alliance to promote financial stability, higher living standards and greater world trade.

The new set-up brings the full economic partnership with European countries for the first time.

The 20-member alliance is setting up an "Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development" (OECD), to promote the "highest sustainable economic growth" at home and throughout the free world, an official communique announced.

The accord, reached after 10 months of intensive preparation, will be formally signed today in official ceremony.

The communique issued after yesterday's meeting pledged permanent consultation on the economic situation and policies.

Long Probe Seen

Firebugs Questioned About Church Fires

While a small army of investigators continued searching yesterday for the cause of two simultaneous church fires last Friday morning, spokesmen emphasized it was a job that would take time—"lots of time."

Known and suspected firebugs were being questioned in Victoria and elsewhere in case, as generally believed, the $300,000 St. John's and $35,000 First United Church blazes, were set deliberately.

On the job almost around the clock are three investigators from the provincial fire marshal's office in Vancouver; two from the fire insurance underwriters' investigation branch, plus Victoria city detectives and fire department representatives.

"We don't know what can be done to hasten results," said Deputy Fire Marshal Henry Jenks in Vancouver yesterday. "We can only work out every lead, and that takes lots of time."

"While all known firebugs, or pyromaniacs, are being checked closely, the possibility of pure coincidence is not being overlooked."

Concern over what they think may have been an earlier attempt to set fire to St. John's Church, burned out completely in Friday's blaze, was expressed by church officials yesterday.

Burned paper and matches were found in the church last Tuesday morning, and city police were advised at noon. Yesterday Chief Constable John Blackstock was still awaiting a full report of the investigation undertaken by a member of his force, before making any comment.

Church committee member Capt. T. B. T. Hewett said small church leaflets had been set afire at six points in the church proper.

The burned paper and matches were found in the aisles, near a leaflet stand, on the stand itself, by the lectern, near the pulpit and near the altar rail.

First reaction was that the leaflets had been used as torches in the darkened church by "winos" looking for the church's communion wine.

And Hitler's Big Blue Eyes

All Women Thrill Me Said 'Wolf' Goebbels

BONN (Reuters)—The 1925-26 diary of the late Joseph Goebbels, containing many references to his amorous and political life, has just been published here.

On July 26, 1926, the man who was to become Hitler's propaganda minister wrote:

"Every woman thrills me to the marrow. I rage around like a hungry wolf and yet am as bashful as a child."

GLORIOUS LOVE
A year earlier he made poetic references to a love affair with a "glorious Bohemian" named Else who "spreads sandwiches with a nail file."

Goebbels, who then belonged to the left wing of the Nazi party, recorded several criticisms of Hitler in the diary, including: "Hitler is surrounded by the wrong people. . . I shall have to go to Munich" (Hitler's headquarters).

BIG BLUE EYES
But on Nov. 6, 1925, he wrote: "We drove to see Hitler. He was just dining. He leaps to his feet and stands before me. He shakes my hand. Like an old friend. And those great blue eyes. Like stars. He is happy to see me. I am overjoyed."

Two weeks later, he recorded: "Hitler welcomes me like an old friend. . . How I love him."

LETHAL DOSES
Goebbels and his wife committed suicide in 1945, just before the collapse of the Third Reich, after instructing a doctor to administer lethal doses of poison to their five children. Goebbels had his wife bite a vial of cyanide, then shot himself.

Burned paper and matches were found in the church last Tuesday morning, and city police were advised at noon.

Yesterday Chief Constable John Blackstock was still awaiting a full report of the investigation undertaken by a member of his force, before making any comment.

Church committee member Capt. T. B. T. Hewett said small church leaflets had been set afire at six points in the church proper.

Four Children

Indians Journey

To Mass Funeral

MERRITT, B.C. (CP)—Scores of Indians from the nearby Nicola Valley journeyed today to the Quilchena reserve Tuesday to attend the funeral of four small children who died Friday in a fire.

The children were buried under four small crosses, the painstakingly carved Monday from small pine logs by other Indians.

The four children who died were Butch, 4, and his three siblings.

Two other children, Tiny, 9, and Butch, 4, were shopping when flames swept through a one-room apartment on the reserve were Randolph Wayne Tomma, 5; Cleo Audrey Tomma, 4; Janice Laberne Tomma, 3; and Alice Harriet Tomma, 2.

They were the children of Elizabeth and Phillip Tomma, who were in Merritt shopping for Christmas toys for the children when the tragedy occurred.

Peace Power Gets Go-Ahead

VANCOUVER (CP)—Peace River Power Development Company will proceed with its full plans to harness the 4,000,000-horsepower hydro-electric potential of the Peace River in northern British Columbia, company president W. C. Mainwaring announced Tuesday.

The company, he said, will seek necessary certificates and licences early next year with the intention of starting construction of a pilot tunnel by the end of 1961 or early 1962, the raising of finances by public subscription to pay for dam construction. First power would flow by 1968.

His announcement gave these points:

• The directors authorized him, as president, to proceed with complete plans of the $630,000,000 Peace project.

• Plans to proceed do not include export of power; all the power generated will be sold within British Columbia as it becomes available.

• The company has entered into negotiations within the last three weeks with the two primary power distributors in the province — B.C. Electric Company and the publicly-owned B.C. Power Commission — and expects these negotiations to have some finality within six to eight weeks.

Gorge Group To Hear Plan

The dormant Gorge Waterway Improvement Association will be awakened early in the new year with a new proposal for beautification of the Gorge.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell said yesterday he will call a meeting to discuss possibility of asking municipalities to undertake Gorge improvement as a city centennial project for 1962, possibly with outside aid.

Teacher Pay Board Urged on Cabinet

Provincial cabinet was told this week that the cost of education remained the major of many problems facing local government.

A delegation representing the Union of B.C. Municipalities said in a brief the financial burden placed on property owners for education costs "is still excessive" and was aggravated by the refusal of the government to accept teachers' salaries as they exist and at a level arrived at by negotiation and arbitration.

The group requested the government to establish a teachers' salary commission charged with the responsibility of establishing fair, adequate and realistic salaries for teachers throughout B.C. It also urged these salaries be accepted by the government as the basis of cost-sharing for salary grant purposes.

The brief consisted of resolutions passed at the annual convention of the UBCM last September.

Sewers Start in May In Shelbourne Area

Construction of sewers approved Dec. 8 for the Cadboro Bay - Shelbourne - Cedar Hill area should begin about the latter part of May, 1961, Saanich public works committee was told last night.

Drawings for the outfalls, trunks and laterals are expected to be completed by mid-March.

The committee approved a proposal to employ 20 men under the winter works program to do preliminary rock work and brush clearing before the contracts are let. The committee was told this work could be done cheaply in the weeks ahead by using equipment which would otherwise be standing idle at this time.

Pearkes Breaks Custom

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will break with a Government House custom of the last few years, it was learned yesterday, in his New Year's reception Jan. 2.

The reception will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., with no special time set apart at the beginning for calls by officers of the services, civil officials and elected representatives.

Custom of setting aside the first half-hour for officers and officials was instituted by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, with the idea of making the reception more convenient for them, since many of these guests are also hosts at New Year's receptions.

But, observers noted, the custom sometimes led to embarrassment among guests not sure of their category.

Favors Cautious Talks

Rush to Summit Is Opposed By Dean Rusk

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The secretary of state for the Kennedy administration, Dean Rusk, is expected to oppose the rush to a summit conference advocated by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and favored by Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain.

The 51-year-old former professor favors more traditional and cautious forms of negotiation. His views on the subject were spelled out earlier this year in a lecture delivered at the Council on Foreign Relations in New York.

He made clear that he thinks personal diplomacy by the president should be reserved for very rare and special uses.

Kennedy In Charge

LONDON (Reuters)—Newspapers around the world yesterday saw the appointment of Dean Rusk to the post of United States secretary of state as indicating that president-elect John Kennedy himself would be the main spring of U.S. foreign policy.

Britain Asks Brains Back

LONDON (CP)—A government board will visit Canada and the U.S. next year to try to recruit scientists who have left Britain.

A spokesman said the board hopes to recruit prospective entrants to the British civil service and to atomic energy authority.

Boards touring North America for the civil service in the past have found many Britons ready to return home if given the chance and made more aware of the opportunities.

Secret Review Starts

Hitler General Wins Key Post in NATO

PARIS (UPI)—West German Inspector-General Adolf Heusinger, a former Hitler general, has been unanimously elected the next chairman of the permanent military committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, it was reported Tuesday.

The election was disclosed in Bonn as top leaders of NATO opened a two-day secret review of western preparations to meet the Soviet bloc's mounting nuclear and inter-continental ballistic missile strength.

Coinciding with the NATO talks was a meeting of the United States, Canada and 18 European nations to form a new free world economic alliance to counter the growing trade challenge from Russia and its Communist satellites.

Heusinger will succeed Dutch Gen. Benjamin Hasselman, present chairman of the Washington-based committee on April 1.

'U2s Used to Pinpoint Slaughter in Algeria'

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Russia charged Tuesday that American U2 planes are being used to carry out reconnaissance for France in its fight with the Algerian Moslem rebels.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin claimed the NATO-based U2s pick out targets in Algeria for the French to hit with American-made napalm bombs dropped from U.S. bombers.

"Whatever the propaganda says, the facts remain clear," Zorin said. "The fact is the Arabs are being slaughtered in Algeria by American weapons."

Zorin was the first speaker in the Algerian debate before the General Assembly's main political committee. The committee, under pressure from Afro-Asian delegates, has under consideration a draft resolution calling for UN intervention in Algeria.

Wage Law Due

Vancouver Goes To Polls Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some 100,000 voters are expected to go to the polls in Vancouver today to select a mayor from six candidates, five aldermen, four park commissioners and five school trustees for two-year terms.

Property owners throughout the city will also decide whether to sell International Airport to the federal government for $2,750,000.

ALDERMAN PLUCKS TOT FROM ALBERNI FLAMES

Margaret Melts Royal Feud

(By Reuters, UPI)

BRUSSELS — Crowds of excited Belgians greeted Princess Margaret and her husband as they arrived here Tuesday for the wedding Thursday of King Baudouin and Dona Fabiola de Mora y Aragon of Spain.

"Margaret, Margaret" and

"Tony, Tony" shrieked airport welcomers while black-helmeted riot police fought with reporters and photographers.

Margaret's arrival formally ended a 20-year-long feud between Britain and Belgium.

King Baudouin and his father, the former King Leopold, never forgave Britain for denouncing Belgium's capitulation to the Nazis as a stab in the back during the dark days of Dunkirk.

Not since the Second World War has a member of the British royal family visited Belgium to take part in a court celebration.

The Belgian royal family refused to send an emissary to the funeral of the late King George VI in 1953.

Nor was a representative sent to Princess Margaret's own wedding last May.

But yesterday the King's younger brother, Albert, and his wife, Princess Paola, welcomed Princess Margaret and her husband at the mist-shrouded airfield.

Plunge Balks Death

ALBERNI—An Alberni alderman yesterday smashed his way through the window of a police magistrate's blazing home and saved the life of a two-year-old girl while the child's parents took two other youngsters to safety.

Ald. George Dunbar, 30, said he was awakened about 4 a.m. by the voices of his neighbors, Magistrate and Mrs. W. E. MacLeod.

SCOOPED UP

When he learned that one youngster was still inside the flaming house he plunged through a window, scooped up the tot and fled outside as flames roared up the basement stairwell.

Awakened by the fire, Mrs. MacLeod and her husband had rushed Roy, eight months, and Jamie, 4, to safety and were about to return for Megan, 2, when their neighbor came to their aid.

LINE WENT DEAD

Mrs. MacLeod telephoned the alarm and heard the line become dead as she talked.

The seven-room home at 714 Princess Street was extensively damaged. The basement, where fire officials say the blaze started, was gutted.

QUICK CONTROL

Volunteer firemen under Chief A. Gilmour brought the fire under control in about 15 minutes.

Ald. Dunbar received minor cuts on the face and hands when he broke through the window.

Car Executive Drops Fortune Enters Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect Kennedy Tuesday persuaded 44-year-old Robert S. McNamara to give up a $400,000-a-year job as president of Ford Motor Co. to serve as United States defence secretary.

"I came to the conclusion that personal considerations must be subordinated to the best interests of the United States," McNamara told reporters after Kennedy announced that the Ford executive had agreed to accept the $25,000-a-year cabinet post.

PERSONAL SACRIFICE

Kennedy said he realized that McNamara—who became president of the giant Ford firm only five weeks ago—was making a personal sacrifice. In addition to surrendering a big salary, McNamara said he will divest himself of big holdings of Ford stock. Kennedy pledged effective leadership for the all-important U.S. military system which he said will be second to none and "the strongest defense of the peace."

McNamara described himself as a registered Republican "but I vote as a political independent."

Attack Launched On Mayor Mabel

ALBERNI—President of the Alberni Voters' Association last night launched a vehement attack on this city's Mayor Mabel Anderson for her statement Monday that signers of a petition seeking her ouster had broken the law.

Robert White, president of the voters' group, accused the mayor of making "veiled threats" against the signers of the petition which sought to have the provincial government demand Mayor Anderson's resignation.

The petition was circulated by the voters' association, which announced that it bore more than 700 signatures.

The association launched the petition after nearly a year of procedural wrangling between mayor and council.

Said the mayor in a statement Monday: "This act on the part of the Alberni Voters' Association shall be dealt with by the proper authorities, and I would suggest any persons being a party to this illegal petition get in touch with the mayor of this city immediately."

Mr. White said the association "positively abhors" the action of the mayor and charged "her statement... has absolutely no foundation in law, fact or common sense."

Record Blizzard

Record cold—as low as 28 below zero—bumped the east coast Tuesday, compounding the misery of the Atlantic seaboard's worst pre-winter blizzard. The digging-out task was monumental and slow.

In Sarnia, Ont., traffic was beginning to recover late Tuesday from an overnight storm which dumped 25 inches of snow on the city and brought traffic to a standstill amid

NO RELIEF

No relief from the deep freeze was in sight before Thursday, the weather bureau said.

The death toll from the weekend storm passed the 200 mark in the United States. Auto accidents, shipping mishaps, freezing and weather-induced heart attacks contributed to the total.

Communities isolated by the storm got their first deliveries of milk and bread since last week. Many schools were closed.

Cuba Trade Policy Revolting—Croll

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator David Croll, an Ontario Liberal, told the Senate that Canada's willingness to sell to Cuba many of the goods on which the United States has placed an embargo "is a revolting example of the philosophy of anything for a fast buck." Canada was negating the U.S. embargo.

Senator Croll said the Cuban trade mission now in Canada "should be sent packing with empty hands." If Cuba could buy the goods elsewhere, it would.

Peace Power Officials Give Go-Ahead on Giant Project

Pyjamas for Jury

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson suggested Tuesday that the British Columbia government supply jurors with pyjamas. "Can't sleep without them myself," he said as the murder trial of Charles Heathman opened. (See Page 3.)

VANCOUVER (CP)—Peace River Power Development Company will proceed with its full plans to harness the 4,000,000-horsepower hydro-electric potential of the Peace River in northern British Columbia, company president W. C. Mainwaring announced Tuesday.

The company, he said, will seek necessary certificates and licences early next year with the intention of starting construction of a pilot tunnel by late spring and of beginning by the end of 1961 or early 1962 the raising of finances by public subscription to pay for dam construction. First power would flow by 1968.

His announcement gave these points:

● The directors authorized him, as president, to proceed with complete plans of the $630,000,000 Peace project.

● Plans to proceed do not include export of power; all the power generated will be sold within British Columbia as it becomes available.

● The company has entered into negotiations within the last three weeks with the two primary power distributors in the province — B.C. Electric Company and the publicly owned B.C. Power Commission — and expects these negotiations to have some finality within six to eight weeks.

Despair Changed to Joy Day Before Christmas

The family breadwinner had been out of work for eight months when Dec. 23 rolled around last year.

He had hoped for some sort of work just before Christmas when extra jobs often turn up. He tried everywhere but the answer was always, "Sorry, try again later on."

He and his wife had been avoiding any talk of Christmas or where they would get presents for their five young children.

Hope gave way to despair when they found their welfare money was eaten up by necessities.

The parents didn't know their family was on the list of the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund. They didn't find out until later that day when a cheque arrived for $20.95.

Each year the fund helps 500 needy families like this to purchase the little extras that make a big difference on Christmas Day.

Today Is Entry Deadline Day For Christmas Tree Tourney

This is the day when application for The Daily Colonist Christmas Tree Golf Tournament should be made.

An extra form for the tournament which this year will be played at Uplands Golf Club on Monday, Dec. 26, appears on page 8.

It should be filled immediately and mailed with entry fee to catch today's postmark. Entries delivered to the Colonist by hand cannot be accepted.

There is a limit of 112 places for men and 60 for women. Ten places will be held for out-of-town applicants whose entries may be delayed in the Christmas rush. The draw for the tournament will appear in The Daily Colonist on Sunday, Dec. 18. Men will start from 8 a.m. while the women, who will play the back nine holes, will start about 11.30. Prizegiving will be held at about 4.30 at the clubhouse.

Rising Star of Bowlers Honored

Players Vote Soccer Strike

Soccer players from south England clubs yesterday voted to go on strike, and the rest of England's 2,700 professionals are expected to follow suit in a bid for higher wages and more freedom in negotiating contracts.

Decision, and one-month's notice of strike, was made at a meeting of 250 players after they turned down compromise offers by officials of the English Football League, Midland and northern stars meet today and tomorrow to take a strike vote.

Players have been kicking for months on the wage and contract structure which pins them all, irrespective of rank — to a maximum wage of £20 per week and a life-long contract. They want the wage limit removed, full freedom to negotiate individual contracts, and the right to transfer to clubs at will without transfer fees being paid.

The league's compromise offer was £30 a week maximum after five years' service, tax-free testimonial games, £150 sterling as a yearly signing on fee and £20 a week minimum the year round instead of the £17 they get in the summer season.

FLOYD PATTERSON, first man ever to regain the world heavyweight championship, has been named "fighter of the year" by the Boxing Writers' Association.

Pete Rademacher, who fought Patterson for the title in his first professional bout, scored a unanimous decision over Will Beamanoff in Cleveland and Cecil Shorts stopped welterweight Vince Martinez in four rounds.

A strike against Santa Anita track has been authorized by the Fair Mutual Employees' Guild unless contract terms are reached. The track opens a 55-day meeting Dec. 26, racing at Pimlico has been cancelled for two days because of snow.

Bill Kilmer, tailback of UCLA's single wing offense, is the total offense champion of major U.S. college football this season with 803 yards rushing and 1,086 yards passing for a total of 1,889 yards in 10 games.

Little Paul's Scrawl Pays Off

OXFORD, England (UPI)—Little Paul Cox, all of 18 months old, picked up his scrawny crayon, made eight childish checks and put his hard-pressed parents on easy street.

Paul's checks were on one of the farthing (quarter penny) coupons entered each week by the thousands of players of the British soccer pools.

His checks turned out to be a windfall, tossed it into the fire. It all added up to a £43,283 ($121,121) tax-free jackpot, an all-time record for a farthing entry. And it could not have come at a better time.

In the first place, the tot was decidedly in the doghouse. He had just picked up his father's £21 ($59) pay cheque and, with childish the baby threw on thing we have to keep out of the fire was a small fortune to us at the time," his father said. "But now we can buy a new house and get rid of our five-year-old car. Beyond that I don't know what we'll do."

"I am afraid Paul has an insatiable appetite for money," Cox added. "He hides it, eats it, destroys it, like a terrier. Now he's made it. The next

Dechene Misses Scoreless Streak As Cougars Bow, 2-1, to Calgary

CALGARY — Lucien Dechene, turning in the kind of puck-blocking which earned him a place in the record books, missed an eight-year-old Western Hockey League

Dechene started his streak away back on Nov. 4, when he shut out the Canucks, 1-0, in a Vancouver game which saw him injure his ankle making a stop. He managed to finish out the last five minutes of the game but didn't get back into action until Nov. 22 at Spokane.

He lasted four minutes in that game, then his ankle gave out again. He finally got back on a full-time basis last Saturday, when he shut out the Canucks in Calgary, 2-0.

That Dechene got as close as he did needed some fine goaling. The Cougars, playing the first game of a seven-game road trip, proved hard to handle.

Playing without centre Red Johansen but with veteran defenceman Georges Roy making his WHL debut, the West Cougars fired 36 shots at Dechene and were unfortunate not to get the points.

Both Dechene and Victoria goalkeeper Marcel Pelletier played well throughout as the game went into the third period still scoreless. Then Gordie Veprava gave Stampers the lead when his shot went through defenceman Jim Hay's legs before eluding Pelletier.

BIG CHANCE
Macaulay's goal came two minutes later. Then Bill Saunders' first penalty of the season gave the Stamps their chance.

Ron Leopold got the winner from a face-off inside Victoria territory just 18 seconds after Saunders went off. Cougars came back sturdily and Jim Moro, shifted to centre, made Dechene come up with his best save of the night just seconds from time to prevent an extra period.

The puck over the line a split second after the final whistle.

Leopold, who now has 22 goals, also drew an assist on Veprava's goal to the linemate Lou Jankowski for the scoring lead. Each has 40 points.

Victoria — Goal: Pelletier; defence: Mod. North; forwards: Saunders, Goyer, Fred. Fennell, Williams, Chortley, Moro, Macaulay.

Calgary — Goal: Dechene; defence: Hucul, Burgess, McAvoy, Van Impe; forwards: Jankowski, Veprava, Leopold, Brown, Finney, Hirsgraber, Bristow, Eick, Kosanovic.

Referee: Bing Juckes; linesmen: Gord Hamilton, Norm Schrier.

Ashbee Winner Of MVP Award

VANCOUVER — Nanaimo's Don Ashbee, whose brawls have put the box back in lacrosse over the past few seasons, last night was named as the most valuable player in the Inter-City Lacrosse

The volatile veteran, whose career has been checked with suspensions that have made him one of the most colorful players in the game, also won a berth on the 1960 all-star team at centre.

Also on the all-star club are Vancouver's Stan Joseph, 30; Skip MacKay of Nanaimo and Doug McTerry of New Westminster, defence, and Jack Blonda of Nanaimo and Cliff Sepka of New Westminster, forwards.

Ashbee's "comeback" last season after sitting out a half-season suspension, was the spark that put Nanaimo in the Mann Cup final.

As a member of Nanaimo's "big three" of Ashbee, Blonda and MacKay, he scored 50 goals and drew 12 assists for 62 points and still found time to lead the league in penalties with 128 minutes.

HALF TOTAL
Blonda, MacKay and Ashbee scored exactly half of Nanaimo's 322 goals during the season. Blonda and MacKay both made the all-star club for the third straight year, and Ashbee, who was all-star centre in 1958, probably would have made it again last year except for the suspension.

Blonda, unquestionably the finest player in the game, ran away for his fourth straight scoring title and the fifth in the five years he has played in the west. He scored 70 goals and assisted on 48 for 118 points, 42 more than Sepka, who finished second.

MacKay was tied for third in scoring with 72 points on 41 goals and 31 assists. Sepka made the all-star team in 1958, lost one forward spot to Vancouver's Gordie Gimple last year, and came back with 42 goals and 34 assists for 76 points to get the berth back this season.

Gimple was named winner of the Maitland Trophy for the third straight year as the player best combining sportsmanship, value to his team, and assistance to minor lacrosse.

FINE SEASON
Joseph, the wooden Indian who enjoyed a fine season for Vancouver, beat out New Westminster's Les Norman for goaltending honors. Norman tied with Gordie Johnson of Victoria as all-star in 1958.

Rookie of the year award went to Tom Wyatt of Nanaimo, still eligible although he played four games with Victoria in 1958 and one with Nanaimo in 1959.

Slimming and Denault each scored twice for Flyers, who got single goals from McLeod and Campbell.

NANAIMO — Nanaimo Comets moved within a single point of first-place Ramblers in the Mid-Island Suburban Hockey League here Sunday by beating them, 5-3.

Danny Zolob scored twice and Bob Wilson, Bill Good and Mike McGuire once for Comets. Norm Faganelli got two goals for Ramblers and Denny Plensky one.

In the second game, Port Alberni Luckies moved back into a second-place tie with Comets on an 8-6 victory over Comox Flyers, sparked by a hat trick by veteran Red Carr. Shadow Yesowick, Ken Walz, Pete Findlay, Murdoch and Blais each scored twice for Luckies.

Danny Belisle Sparks Club

VANCOUVER — One player doesn't make a hockey team, but one player can make it a different hockey club.

And that's what rightwinger Danny Belisle has done for Vancouver Canucks in the 12 games he has played since being recalled from the Eastern Professional League.

When Belisle rejoined the Canucks—he scored 55 goals for them in the past two seasons—they were only 7-5 and slipping. Larry Popein and Bruce Carmichael, two forwards expected to produce a lot of goals, had only scored once each.

Then things changed—as soon as Popein and Carmichael got Belisle for a linemate. This happened on Nov. 18, and in the next 12 games, the Canucks won eight, lost three and tied one.

Their eighth win in the surge came last night at Vancouver, where Belisle scored twice and Popein once in a 4-2 conquest of Winnipeg's Jaded Warriors.

Belisle has 12 goals and five assists for his 12 games and Popein and Carmichael are 6-13 and 6-10, respectively, in the same span. Among them, they have scored 24 of the Canucks' last 44 goals.

DEFENCE TOUGH
Warriors opened fast and got the first two goals of the game. But they could do nothing with the tough Vancouver defence, which again had Larry Cahen in a starring role, for the rest of the game and got only seven shots on Claude Evans in the last two periods.

Defeat was the fourth in a row for the Warriors in a skid which has seen them lose nine and tie one of their last 11 games. Five of their losses, including the last three, have been by 2-4.

Winnipeg — Goal: Lumley; defence: Ward, Goyer, Karpas, Scott, Poon; forwards: Jankowski, Carmichael, Davis, Brown, Barkak, Redell, Hughes, Labossiere.

Vancouver — Goal: Evans; defence: Macrae, Anderson, Keller, Cahen; forwards: Popein, Kurtenbach, Carmichael, Dale, Sweeney, Suggs, Wilkie.

FIRST PERIOD
1. Winnipeg, Davis (Green, Briston) 12:30.
2. Vancouver, Hughes (Briston, Davis) 13:00.
Penalties: None.

SECOND PERIOD
3. Vancouver, Popein (Carmichael, Keller) 15:30.

Army Star Boxing Card Headliner

Canadian Army light-middleweight champion Lawrence Cardinal will meet Vancouver's classy Bob Gineti in the main event of an 11-bout card to be presented by the Army Boxing Club Dec. 21 at Work Point Barracks.

Cardinal, stationed at Work Point, was runner-up in his division at the 1958 Pan American Games and won the Army title in both 1958 and 1960.

Six boxers from Vancouver and others from Victoria and Chemainus clubs will fight in their three-round bouts. First bout starts at 8 p.m.

Belmont Shades Mount Viewers

Belmont edged Mount View, 32-31, yesterday in their opening game of the city high school junior boys' basketball league.

Belmont — McClellan 7, Bratley 4, Caton 3, Allan 3, Bell 2, Young 2.
Mount View — Haynes 4, Henderson 4, Veach 3, Cox 10, Sunder 4. Total—31.

Four Share $84,237 Pot At Caliente

AGUA CALIENTE, Calif. (AP)—Two couples, holders of an $8 multiple ticket at Caliente, won $84,237 Sunday. The race track identified them Monday.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Max Tulio, all of National City, Calif.

The four put in $2 apiece for the ticket, the only one correctly picking the six winning horses in the fifth through the 10th races.

Kiwanis Will Guide Holiday Sightseers

NANAIMO—There will be a guided tour through Nanaimo's business and residential districts during the holiday season to see the mass of decorations already appearing for festivities.

Kiwanis Club received permission from Nanaimo council to conduct a "cavalcade of cars" through the city and district to enable residents to view the best-lighted and decorated homes.

Ald. Jack Parker praised the club for the plan to make Nanaimo the "Christmas city of B.C." while Ald. Haig Burns said the turnout in recent years was so large that he hoped the club would split it up into groups to avoid congestion.

DUNCAN—Quite a few people can't seem to understand the difference between local and rural mail, says Postmaster Robert Corney.

And because of it a huge mailbox in the post office has had its sign changed from "local" to "Duncan."

He said some persons incorrectly put Christmas cards in the mailbox, which is for mail for Koksilah, Cowichan and Westholme in with Duncan mail when these communities have post offices of their own.

Mr. Corney also advised that mail sent to children should be addressed in care of the parents. And if the local box number is not known, the mail will get through faster if the receiver's house number and street name are included on the envelope.

ALBERNI—Hope has been held out to Alberni council that a grant toward construction of a new Kitsukis Creek bridge at Gertrude Street may be forthcoming from the provincial government.

A letter from Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi stated that he had instructed his department to take into consideration the council's request when grant-in-aid fund allocations are made in the forthcoming budget.

NANAIMO—The fire department of Nanaimo had a busy year with nearly $76,000 damage caused by fire.

Ald. William McGregor, chairman of the fire committee of city council, said this figure included the disastrous Chinatown blaze that left 200 people homeless.

He praised installation of a new district alarm system which centralizes all alarms to the city, after which they are distributed to surrounding unorganized territories.

Other News Of Island Pages 14, 26

He said there were a total of 38 district alarms since its installation, or more than one a week.

ALBERNI—Old timer Andy Grunlund has presented the city of Alberni with a sturdy plywood-gavel stand, hand-made and polished.

Accepting the gift on behalf of the council, Mayor Mabel Anderson smiled as she said, "I only wish it had arrived sooner."

Some months ago, Mayor Anderson broke the plate glass table top with a blow of the gavel, then had it replaced at her own expense.

DUNCAN—A drinking party Saturday ended when a man was felled with a piece of wood.

Gus Joe, 29, father of three, who said he had not worked for two years, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault causing bodily harm. Fine was $25.

Police said there was "bad blood" between he and Alfred Modeste, both Cowichan Indians, who came into court with a bandage covering most of his head. Police said six stitches were needed to close the wound.

Joe told the court he had been kept by assistance from the Indian department. He said it was impossible for him to get a job.

"That's ridiculous—you can get money for liquor," said the magistrate.

He said that while all cities must show progress there comes a time for a rest after several rounds of heavy expenditures.

He warned all committees, boards, city employees and fellow council members to be content with the advances made in recent years and advised 1961's council to hold the line on general taxation.

FULFORD—Arbitration board for settlement of School District No. 64 teachers' 1961 salaries will sit at Victoria on Dec. 15.

NANAIMO—Taxpayers here deserve a rest says city finance chairman Ald. Haig Burns.

ALBERNI—Mrs. Frances May Allen, 64, a resident of this district for the past 25 years, died in West Coast General Hospital Monday.

She was pre-deceased by her husband, Charles M. Allen, in 1946, and leaves one son, Charles, Alberni; a daughter, Mrs. T. S. (Joan) Hamilton, Alberni; her mother, Mrs. Sarah Walker, Alberni; four sisters, Mrs. Jeannette Docherty, Vancouver; Mrs. Kathleen Eckstein, Alberni; Mrs. Nora White, Arizona; and Mrs. I. Tyrwhit, California; and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Allen was a native of Paisley, Scotland. She was active in the Orange Lodge and in the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's.

NANAIMO—A man who stole money from his employer has been sentenced to a year in jail.

William Edward Stokes, 46, of Yellow Point, pleaded guilty to stealing more than $650 from a company by which he was employed. A pre-sentence report from a probation officer alleged that drink seemed to be Stokes' major problem.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts ordered the 46-year-old man to make restitution of the money.

NANAIMO—Penitentiary terms were handed out to Chesley Leeson and Leo Laplante, both of no fixed address, who pleaded guilty to charges of stealing clothing from two stores in downtown Nanaimo.

RCMP introduced a long list of previous convictions for the pair.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts sentenced each to two years in the penitentiary on two charges. Sentences are to run concurrently.

Reject Motion Calling Split Illegal

Servants Reaffirm Break with Labor

Victoria branch of the B.C. Government Employees' Association has refused to rejoin the Victoria Labor Council despite charges that their move in disaffiliating was unconstitutional.

A letter from BCGEA general secretary E. P. O'Conner expressed the opinion that a referendum was required to authorize disaffiliation.

At their meeting Monday night members voted 25-6 against a motion by member John H. Wood to declare the disaffiliation move Nov. 14 unconstitutional. Mr. Wood is also the research assistant to CCF leader Robert Strachan but has been a member of the BCGEA for eight years.

The meeting did, however, agree to refer the issue to the provincial executive for advice. Secretary Jack Hawes explained to the meeting that local branches were not bound to accept opinions from the general secretary.

The executive body of the association had not itself ruled on the question.

Harrowing Tofino-Alberni Run

Bus Navigates Inundated Road

Headlights Disappeared Under Swirling Waters

PORT ALBERNI—Neither Paul Revere nor the pony express ever had it any tougher than the Orient Coach Lines Tofino-Alberni bus on Monday.

The bus got through, but owner-driver Noel Hamelin said he will never forget the harrowing run.

After bucking a wild west coast storm, flash floods and frequent washout for 65 miles he said, "I'll remember it all my life."

Many times, he said, he doubted that he would bring the bus and its 11 passengers through.

In one place water was over the headlights as Hamelin felt his way through flood waters where Taylor River had risen above its banks and inundated the dirt road. He waded in water to his waist to shove debris out of the path and he said he was heading into the water by a swirling log as it shot past in flood waters.

There were at least a dozen washouts but the worst was the length of two city blocks. He said he had to feel for the road with the front wheels, driving at a crawl and not sure whether there was any road in front of him. First the fog lights were under water, then the driving lights were covered as he drove some 20 feet in the pitch dark, with water gurgling under the door.

Mr. Hamelin said he was thankful his passengers, all adults, remained calm as he was too busy driving to have time to deal with panic. Some, seated toward the rear of the bus, may not have realized the danger but one man stood at the front and shared the driver's anxiety, but still remained calm.

The bus service to the west coast was instituted by Mr. Hamelin and Lawrence Nelson last September. Mr. Nelson is the regular driver of the 33-passenger bus but was off sick on Monday.

By coincidence Mr. Nelson was also unable to make the trip some two weeks ago when the bus ran into its first experience of winter conditions. Mr. Hamelin drove over the snow-covered hills and the bus was the only vehicle to get through when cars and freight trucks stalled on the road.

Highway department officials declared Tuesday that the Tofino Road would be closed for at least two days for repairs, but Mr. Hamelin said he will take the bus through on its regular schedule Tuesday.

Cargo Fleet for Canada?

City Shipbuilders Cross Fingers

Victoria shipbuilders held high hopes for the industry's future last night if Parliament backs re-establishment of a Canadian merchant marine.

Reaction followed confirmation in Ottawa by Transport Minister Balcer that such legislation would be introduced at this session of Parliament.

"It's a pretty sad state of affairs for a country like Canada, third exporting nation in the world, not to have a merchant marine," said H. A. Wallace, vice-president of Yarrows Ltd.

HIGH FREIGHT

He agreed with T. R. McLagan, president of Canada Steamship Lines Ltd., who claimed recently that Canada's huge trade deficit is caused in part by freight payment to other nations for carrying our imports and exports.

Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot, said the shipbuilding industry would be revived if the federal government's plan includes a depreciation allowance to the owner who builds his ships in Canada.

Similar inducements are offered in both the United States and the United Kingdom, encouraging owners to build at home rather than in some foreign country, he said.

Details of the government's merchant marine plan are not known.

"I can only say it is the proposal shipbuilders have been asking for then it will help the shipbuilding industry," said Mr. Husband.

Diet-Conscious Housewives Whipped in Cream Fight?

SECOND LOOK: Housewives who have been bemoaning the province-wide ban on the sale of a whipping cream substitute named Dreamwhip may take some consolation from the promise by Agriculture Minister Frank Richter to review the matter.

But the situation doesn't look too hopeful.

Former minister Newton Steacy banned the product when farmers flooded his office with protests. The banning was made possible under the Milk Act which forbids the sale of dairy products substitutes.

Diet-conscious housewives went for Dreamwhip in a big way because of its low calorie content and are far from happy over the fact it can be bought everywhere in North America except B.C.

But we pointed out earlier, they shouldn't get their hopes up. Mr. Richter was asked how come this dairy substitute was banned while another, margarine, was sold widely in B.C. "Two wrongs don't make a right," he replied.

CAR FAN: No names here, just in case car-thieves think they've found an easy mark, but there's one city couple still shaking their heads over the circumstances surrounding the theft and recovery of their neat little British sports car the other day.

There was a general wringing of hands and tearing of hair when the car was found gone and the couple had visions of the vehicle eventually being found wrecked or damaged.

They were shocked when the police recovered the car on a parking lot a few days later. It had been cleaned, the cigarette trays had been emptied, the gas supply had been replenished and none of the equipment and personal effects in the car had been touched.

TEA TIME TROUBLE: During the squabble over Columbia River financing here last weekend a member of federal Justice Minister Davie Fulton's policy liaison team was engaged in a survey concerning lesser things.

Stuart Fleming MP for Okanagan-Revelstoke (who was elected as president of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association last weekend), reported that the Empress Hotel wasn't as English as everyone tried to make out.

The reason: his survey disclosed that the Empress makes its tea with tea bags—and that's jolly well not done in the best of circles, old man!

STRANGE HOBBY: Roy Ashworth, manager of Maynard's, says he's never seen anything quite like the collection of 11,000 buttons now on display in his auction rooms.

The buttons were collected from all parts of Canada and the U.S. and are all different. They're mounted on cards.

Mr. Ashworth says the buttons are primarily for display purposes but the collection is open to private offers.

Court Martial Told Short Crew Fired Overloaded Shell

FRANKFURT (UPI)—An artillery shell that killed 17 men in the U.S. Army's most disastrous training accident in Germany was fired by an undermanned crew confused about the loading, witnesses told a court martial yesterday.

Two members of the howitzer crew that fired the shell Sept. 2 on the army's Grafenwoehr training area testified the crew was below strength and not sure of the type of charge used for the shell.

The army has charged two officers and an enlisted man in the crew with negligent homicide. The charge specifies the shell carried seven bags of powder instead of the prescribed five and resulted in the shell travelling two miles past its target and landing in an infantry tent camp just after morning roll call.

The accused are 2nd Lieut. Mark Kempf, 24, of San Antonio, Texas, the safety officer; 1st Lieut. George O'Grady of Arlington, Va.; and PFC Raymond R. Riggs of New Iberia, La.

The prosecution charged that Kempf failed to check the powder charge. Kempf is currently on trial and the other two men will go on trial next week.

Cpl. Billy Nilfong of Thomasville, N.C., ammunition non-com of the crew, testified "if we had had all 20 men (of the crew) I would probably have been supervising the cutting of the powder." Nilfong, now back in the United States, testified by deposition.

PFC Napoleon Jackson, of Chicago, said he was doing the jobs of both crew chief and gunner.

Jackman testified that he asked Kempf if the gun was safe to fire.

"I got a nod of the head and I took that to mean yes," Jackson said. Nilfong also testified that Kempf reported the gun safe for firing.

Fifteen soldiers were killed outright when the shell landed in their midst. Two more died later and 23 more were wounded. Some still are undergoing treatment.

All three of the accused men face maximum sentences of one year in prison, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and separation from the army, if convicted.

Europe

Canada

Economic 'Partner'

PARIS (UPI)—The United States, Canada and 18 nations of Western Europe agreed yesterday to set up a free world economic co-operation alliance to promote financial stability, higher living standards and greater world trade.

The new set-up brings the United States and Canada into full economic partnership with European countries for the first time.

The 20-member alliance is setting up an "Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development" (OECD), to promote the "highest sustainable economic growth" at home and throughout the free world, an official communiqué announced.

The accord, reached after 10 months of intensive preparation, will be formally signed today in official ceremony.

The communiqué issued after yesterday's meeting pledged permanent consultation on the economic situation and policies.

Long Probe Seen

Firebugs Questioned About Church Fires

While a small army of investigators continued searching yesterday for the cause of two simultaneous church fires last Friday morning, spokesmen emphasized it was a job that would take time—"lots of time."

Known and suspected firebugs were being questioned in Victoria and elsewhere in case, as generally believed, the $500,000 St. John's and $350,000 First United Church blazes, were set deliberately.

On the job almost around the clock are three investigators from the provincial fire marshal's office in Vancouver; two from the fire insurance underwriters' investigation branch, plus Victoria city detectives and fire department representatives.

"We don't know what can be done to hasten results," said Deputy Fire Marshal Henry Jennis in Vancouver yesterday.

"We can only work out every lead, and that takes lots of time."

"While all known firebugs, or pyromaniacs, are being checked closely, the possibility of pure coincidence is not being overlooked."

Concern over what they think may have been an earlier attempt to set fire to St. John's Church, burned out completely in Friday's blaze, was expressed by church officials yesterday.

Burned paper and matches were found in the church last Tuesday morning, and city police were advised at noon.

Yesterday Chief Constable John Blackstock was still awaiting a full report of the investigation undertaken by a member of his force, before making any comment.

Church committee member Capt. T. B. T. Hewett said small church leaflets had been set afire at six points in the church proper.

The burned paper and matches were found in the aisles, near a leaflet stand, on the stand itself, by the lectern, near the pulpit and near the altar rail.

First reaction was that the leaflets had been used as torches in the darkened church by "winos" looking for the church's communion wine.

This possibility is another being checked by fire marshal's investigators.

East Indian Leader Says:

Soviet Efforts to Split Canada, India Failing

DUNCAN—The Soviet Union may be trying to foment ill-feeling between the people of India and Canada, but a local spokesman for East Indians believes the move is doomed to failure.

Monetary aids and assistance under the Colombo Plan, as well as glowing letters from East Indians here, will "torpedo" any Soviet propaganda, he said.

"With all that Canada is doing in India, such as building dams and atomic reactors, the Communists can't hope to make any headway," says Meetow Singh, head of the East Indian Canadian Citizens' Welfare Association.

At present there are about 4,000 East Indians in Canada. The EICCA is the spokesman for the community.

"The East Indian people in Canada are now satisfied with the government's (immigration) regulations, which used to be a hot issue. The present government has let through a backlog of nearly 400 permits of entry," said Meetow Singh.

He was replying to a Canadian Press report that mass-produced, Russian magazines containing a blistering attack on Canada have been dumped in India. Articles claim this country is haunted by a spectre of unemployment and "groaning under the economic domination of the United States."

Said the East Indian spokesman bluntly, "I don't think so."

The latest issue of the Soviet New Times states there are many "foreclosures of mortgaged homes, small business bankruptcies, virtual collapse of the house-building industry and a precipitous drop in automobile production and sales."

"There are a lot of people coming into the country and they are getting jobs," said Meetow Singh.

He said elders of the East Indian community and several new arrivals had concluded that "There are good relations between the two countries and it is felt that these articles will have no effect."

Four Children

Indians Journey To Mass Funeral

MERRITT, B.C. (CP)—Scores of Indians from the nearby Nicola Valley journeyed sadly to the Quilchena reserve Tuesday to attend the funeral of four small children who died Friday in a fire.

The children were buried under four small crosses, painstakingly carved Monday from small pine logs by other Indians.

The four children who died when flames swept through a one-room apartment on the reserve were Randolph Wayne Tomma, 5; Cleo Audrey Tomma, 4; Janice Laberne Tomma, 3; and Alice Harriet Tomma, 2.

They were the children of Elizabeth and Phillip Tomma, who were in Merritt shopping for Christmas toys for the children when the tragedy occurred.

Two other children, Tiny, 9, and Butch, 4, were shopping with their parents.

The children will give their interpretation of a blessed Christmas and will be dressed in costumes of many nations. After recitation and carols the children will place gifts under the Christmas tree in the church, and these will be sent to needy children in Victoria. Sunday school superintendent.

Magazine Field

New Writers Can't Break In

TORONTO (CP)—June Callwood, freelance magazine writer, told the royal commission on publications Tuesday there is no place left in Canada when an eager youngster can learn the business.

Termining the writing of magazine articles "an art form," Miss Callwood said the job of the general-interest writer is becoming harder every day with "only three" top-flight magazines buying articles.

Miss Callwood said the general-interest writer is taking over wider fields of endeavor all the time—"at one time soldiers wrote on war, doctors on medicine—all with varying degrees of dullness."

Now the general-interest writer is expected to handle all these fields.

The United States market was "suspicious" of Canadian stories unless they dealt with "Mounties, the North or hockey," she said.

Marsh Jeanneret, director of the University of Toronto

Press, said that under U.S. regulations, if a Canadian publisher exports more than 1,500 copies of a book to the United States, the author loses the copyright. This influenced some Canadian authors, aiming at the large U.S. market, to seek a U.S. publisher.

Grattan O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal and head of the three-man commission, questioned Mr. Jeanneret closely on the copyright issue.

"Who published the biography of Mackenzie King?" "We did," replied Mr. Jeanneret.

"You mean to say, then," the chairman asked, "if the biography of Mr. King sold more than 1,500 copies in the United States—which God forbid—you would lose the copyright?"

Mr. Jeanneret explained that in the case of this work, the United States run was manufactured in the U.S. "in order to get a good U.S. copyright."

B.C. Municipalities

Teacher Pay Board Urged on Cabinet

Provincial cabinet was told this week that the cost of education remained the major of many problems facing local government.

A delegation representing the Union of B.C. Municipalities said in a brief the financial burden placed on property owners for education costs "is still excessive" and was aggravated by the refusal of the government to accept teachers' salaries as they exist and at a level arrived at by negotiation and arbitration.

The group requested the government to establish a teachers' salary commission charged with the responsibility of establishing fair, adequate and realistic salaries for teachers throughout B.C. It also urged these salaries be accepted by the government as the basis of cost-sharing for salary grant purposes.

The brief consisted of resolutions passed at the annual convention of the UBCM last September.

Lights, Parties, Pageant

Salt Spring Twinkles For Christmas Week

FULFORD—Christmas week in Fulford will be one of the most festive in the community's history when colored lights go on around the homes on the waterfront and up the valley.

Colored lights will reflect on the water at night and vie with the stars above.

Christmas trees will decorate the masts of the Gulf Islands ferries—holly wreaths will go on doors and illuminated trees will sparkle from the windows of many homes.

Santa Claus will arrive on Saturday to attend the children's Christmas party in Fulford Hall, and on Sunday children from St. Mary's Church will stage a Christmas Pageant.

These children will give their interpretation of a blessed Christmas and will be dressed in costumes of many nations. After recitation and carols the children will place gifts under the Christmas tree in the church, and these will be sent to needy children in Victoria. Sunday school superintendent.

Mrs. A. D. Dane will supervise the event, assisted by Mrs. J. French, Elizabeth Dane and Mrs. P. Middlemiss.

On Christmas Eve the children from St. Mary's choir will sing carols to shut-ins and at different homes around Fulford.

Wage Law Due

Federal minimum wage law will be introduced soon, Labor Minister Michael Starr said Tuesday. He did not disclose minimum to be specified, but most frequent submission to Ottawa has called for at least $1.25 an hour. Law would only apply to some 400,000 workers under federal jurisdiction.

Margaret Melts Royal Feud

(By Reuters, UPI)

BRUSSELS — Crowds of excited Belgians greeted Princess Margaret and her husband as they arrived here Tuesday for the wedding Thursday of King Baudouin and Dona Fabiola de Mora y Aragon of Spain.

"Margaret, Margaret" and

"Tony, Tony" shrieked airport welcome while black-helmeted riot police fought with reporters and photographers.

Margaret's arrival formally ended a 20-year-long feud between Britain and Belgium.

King Baudouin and his father, the former King Leopold, never forgave Britain for denouncing Belgium's capitulation to the Nazis as a stab in the back during the dark days of Dunkirk.

Not since the Second World War has a member of the British royal family visited Belgium to take part in a court celebration.

The Belgian royal family refused to send an emissary to the funeral of the late King George VI in 1953.

Nor was a representative sent to Princess Margaret's own wedding last May.

But yesterday the King's younger brother, Albert, and his wife, Princess Paola, welcomed Princess Margaret and her husband at the mist-shrouded airfield.

Witness Crash Victim

A Sooke resident who was a member of the Jehovah's Witness sect died in St. Joseph's Hospital last night after refusing to accept blood transfusions.

Dead following an accident late yesterday afternoon is David Cory, about 45 to 50, a bachelor of Maple Avenue, Sooke.

NOT CERTAIN

A hospital spokesman said last night he could not state that Cory died because of lack of blood, but said the victim was suffering shock when admitted and that it would be standard practice in such a case to administer transfusions.

It is contrary to religious principles of the group to which Cory belonged to accept blood transfusions in any form.

The hospital spokesman said that only an autopsy would prove whether or not a transfusion would have saved the man's life.

He said Cory suffered a fractured skull and possible internal injuries.

FAIR CONDITION

The victim's condition was fair when admitted to hospital at 6:20 p.m. but deteriorated rapidly shortly before his death at 10:15 p.m.

The hospital official said Cory was conscious when admitted and said that because of his religion he did not want transfusions administered. Attendants abided by his wish.

STANDARD PRACTICE

"Whether or not it (blood) would have made any difference can't be said with absolute certainty . . . but in a case of this nature blood would have been given," he said.

Bystanders said Cory was bleeding heavily from the head when loaded into the ambulance.

The fatally-injured man was struck by a car driven by Houghton Gibson, 83, of Sooke, who was coming out of his own driveway about half a block from the firehall.

Mr. Cory was lying under the car when West Coast ambulance arrived to take him to hospital.

Car Executive Drops Fortune Enters Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Kennedy Tuesday persuaded 44-year-old Robert S. McNamara to give up a $400,000-a-year job as president of Ford Motor Co. to serve as United States defense secretary.

"I came to the conclusion that personal considerations must be subordinated to the best interests of the United States," McNamara told reporters after Kennedy announced that the Ford executive had agreed to accept the $25,000-a-year cabinet post.

PERSONAL SACRIFICE

Kennedy said he realized that McNamara—who became president of the giant Ford firm only five weeks ago—was making a personal sacrifice. In addition to surrendering a big salary, McNamara said he will divest himself of big holdings of Ford stock.

Kennedy pledged effective leadership for the all-important U.S. military system which he said will be second to none and "so strong it can defend the peace."

McNamara described himself as a registered Republican "but I vote as a political independent."

Attack Launched On Mayor Mabel

ALBERNI—President of the Alberni Voters' Association last night launched a vehement attack on this city's Mayor Mabel Anderson for her statement Monday that signers of a petition seeking her ouster had broken the law.

Robert White, president of the voters' group, accused the mayor of making "veiled threats" against the signers of the petition which sought to have the provincial government demand Mayor Anderson's resignation.

The petition was circulated by the voters' association, which announced that it bore more than 700 signatures.

The association launched the petition after nearly a year of procedural wrangling between mayor and council.

"Said the mayor in a statement Monday: 'This act on the part of the Alberni Voters' Association shall be dealt with by the proper authorities, and I would suggest any persons being a party to this illegal petition get in touch with the mayor of this city immediately.'"

Mr. White said the association "positively abhors" the action of the mayor and charged "her statement . . . has absolutely no foundation in law, fact or common sense."

Record Blizzard

Record cold—as low as 28 below zero—benumbed the east coast Tuesday, compounding the misery of the Atlantic seaboard's worst pre-winter blizzard. The digging-out task was monumental and slow.

In Sarnia, Ont., traffic was beginning to recover late Tuesday from an overnight storm which dumped 25 inches of snow on the city and brought traffic to a standstill amid drifts five feet deep.

NO RELIEF

No relief from the deep freeze was in sight before Thursday, the weather bureau said.

The death toll from the weekend storm passed the 200 mark in the United States. Car accidents, snipping "vishaps, freezing and weather-induced heart attacks contributed to the total.

Communities isolated by the storm got their first deliveries of milk and bread since last week. Many schools were closed.

Cuba Trade Policy Revolting—Croll

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator David Croll, an Ontario Liberal, told the Senate that Canada's willingness to sell to Cuba many of the goods on which the United States has placed an embargo "is a revolting example of the philosophy of anything for a fast buck." Canada was negating the U.S. embargo.

Senator Croll said the Cuban trade mission now in Canada "should be sent packing with empty hands." If Cuba could buy the goods elsewhere, it would.

Baritone Dies

Famed operatic baritone John Charles Thomas, 68, died at Apple Valley, Calif., yesterday following an extended illness. Known for his deep, rich voice, and as one of the Metropolitan Opera Company's all-time greats, the noted singer was a victim of intestinal cancer. His farewell concert tour was in 1952-53.

Alderman Plucks Tot From Alberni Fire

Pyjamas for Jury

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson suggested Tuesday that the British Columbia government supply jurors with pyjamas. "Can't sleep without them myself," he said as the murder trial of Charles Heathman opened. (See Page 3.)

ALBERNI — An Alberni alderman yesterday smashed his way through the window of a police magistrate's blazing home and saved the life of a two-year-old girl while the child's parents took two other youngsters to safety.

Ald. George Dunbar, 30, said he was awakened about 4 a.m. by the voices of his neighbors. Magistrate and Mrs. W. E. MacLeod.

SCOOPED UP

When he learned that one youngster was still inside the flaming house he plunged through a window, scooped up the tot and fled outside as flames roared up the basement stairwell.

Awakened by the fire, Mrs. MacLeod and her husband had rushed Roy, eight months, and Jamie, 4, to safety and were about to return for Megan, 2, when their neighbor came to their aid.

LINE WENT DEAD

Mrs. MacLeod telephoned the alarm and heard the line become dead as she talked.

QUICK CONTROL

Volunteer firemen under Chief A. Gilmour brought the fire under control in about 15 minutes.

Ald. Dunbar received minor cuts on the face and hands when he broke through the window.

Reds Veto Congo Plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Russia cast its 92nd veto in the UN Security Council early today to kill a Western resolution aimed at ending Congo strife.

Russia then submitted a demand for immediate release of Patrice Lumumba, but lost 8-2.

Despair Changed to Joy Day Before Christmas

The family breadwinner had been out of work for eight months when Dec. 23 rolled around last year.

He had hoped for some sort of work just before Christmas when extra jobs often turn up. He tried everywhere but the answer was always, "Sorry, try again later on."

He and his wife had been avoiding any talk of Christmas or where they would get presents for their five young children.

Hope gave way to despair when they found their welfare money was eaten up by necessities.

The parents didn't know their family was on the list of the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund. They didn't find out until later that day when a cheque arrived for $20.95.

Each year the fund helps 500 needy families like this to purchase the little extras that make a big difference on Christmas Day.

Today Is Entry Deadline Day For Christmas Tree Tourney

This is the day when application for The Daily Colonist Christmas Tree Golf Tournament should be made.

An extra form for the tournament which this year will be played at Uplands Golf Club on Monday, Dec. 26, appears on Page 8.

It should be filled immediately and mailed, with entry fee to catch today's postmark. Entries delivered to the Colonist by hand cannot be accepted.

There is a limit of 112 places for men and 60 for women. Ten places will be held for out-of-town applicants whose entries may be delayed in the Christmas rush.

The draw for the tournament will appear in The Daily Colonist on Sunday, Dec. 18. Men will start from 8 a.m., while the women, who will play the back nine holes, will start about 11.30. Prizegiving will be held at about 4.30 at the clubhouse.
